LONDON, July 10.—The German high command said today that the Red army had opened a violent attack above Iasc in northeastern Romania and Berlin acknowledged the loss of Luniniec, railroad junction in the Pripet marshes 30 miles east of Pinsk.

The British press reported that the Russians had advanced to a point within 60 miles of East Prussia.

Berlin said earlier that the Red Army had practically encircled Wilno, capital of Soviet Lithuania, and to the northeast had broken through the Wilno-Daugavpils line, driving 25 miles beyond it to within 125 miles of the Baltic Sea.

The German high command reported violent fighting in the area of Utena, indicating that Russian mobile forces were racing across the Baltic corridor.

Three Landmarks Hit

Fresh Stream of Robots Blast London, South Areas

LONDON, July 10.—The authorities began the evacuation of mothers and expectant mothers from robot-blasted London today after removing nearly 55,000 school children to the safety of the provinces in the past week.

The German flying bombs, launched from the French coast, continued to fall in London and southern England in daylight today following a night of intermittent attacks.

Authorities made their usual laconic announcement that damage and casualties had been reported.

Dr. Rudolf Semmler, Radio Berlin commentator, asserted that Germany's second "revenge weapon—'V-2' will be far more terrible" than the robot boms and the London Sunday Express speculated the new weapon may be a rocket bomb 36 feet long and carrying 10 tons of explosives. The present jet-propelled robot bombs are 25 feet long and carry a ton of explosives.

HIT FAMOUS CHAPEL

Censorship authorities finally permitted disclosure that robot bombs recently destroyed the famous 106-year-old Guards Chapel in the Wellington Barracks area only a little more than a stone's throw from Buckingham Palace.

The bomb hit while 200 to 500 officers and members of the Guards, their relatives, members of various women's services and civilians were attending a service. Lord Edward Hay, the colonel commanding the Grenadier Guards, was among the large number killed.

When the robot bomb came over the barracks area and its engine stopped, which meant that it was about to explode, A King's Guard of 86 men was at attention 10 yards from the chapel. Not a man moved when the bomb exploded and strangely not one of the 86 was injured.

Robot bombs also hit the Bankruptcy Court and the Regent Palace hotel just off Piccadilly Circus.

To List Voters

Advance Poll Will Be Held August 3, 4, 5

Enumeration of Edmonton voters for the Alberta election on Aug. 8 probably will start on Wednesday, according to H. H. Crawford, city returning officer. It is expected that 60,000 names will be registered for the vote. In the 1940 election, 59,885 names were listed.

At provincial government headquarters, Robert A. Andison, chief electoral officer, announced that advance polling in the election will take place on Aug. 3, 4 and 5, between 2 and 5 p.m. and 7 and 10 p.m. Rural pols will be open on Aug. 8, election day, between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m., while city and suburban polls will be open from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m.

A total of 267 enumerators will work in Edmonton proper, 138 being named by the Social Credit party, 69 by the C.C.F. and 69 by the Independents, Mr. Crawford said. In addition, four will work in Beverly and Jasper Place, bringing the total to 280 for the whole constituency.

NAME ENUMERATORS

Under Election Act provisions, the two parties making highest standing in the last election contest are eligible to name enumerators.

The C.C.F. won the last election campaign in Edmonton (the 1942 by-election) and therefore is entitled to name half the enumerators required. However, Elmer E. Roper, C.C.F. party leader, has consented to split this half to allow 69 enumerators to be appointed by the Independent party.

The enumerators will start work just as soon as supplies are received and organization work is completed. They will work in pairs, except in Jasper Place and Beverly.

De Gaulle to Reach Ottawa Tomorrow

OTTAWA, July 10.—(CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced today that Gen. de Gaulle is expected to arrive in Ottawa from the United States by air tomorrow morning, leaving Wednesday morning for brief visits to Quebec and Montreal.

Mr. King said in a statement that Gen. de Gaulle will be the guest of the governor-general and Princess Alice at government house.

While here, he will lay a wreath at the National War Memorial about noon, then go to Parliament Hill where he will speak in front of the Peace Tower after an introduction by Mr. King.

He will have an interview with Mr. King at 4 p.m., a press conference at 4:30 p.m. and will have dinner with Mr. King at the Country Club tomorrow evening.

Quebec Increases Old Age Pensions

QUEBEC, July 10.— (CP) — All old age pensions paid by the provincial government will be boosted from $365 to $425 a year, an increase of $60, Premier Godbout announced here Saturday. The increased benefits, arranged through an agreement with the federal government, will be paid to 25,000 persons who have been drawing pensions as well as to 600 others who recently became eligible for the pensions.

Godbout Against Overseas Draft

L'ISLET, Que., July 10.—(CP)—Premier Godbout, opening his campaign in the Quebec Aug. 8 general provincial elections, said here yesterday, "I was against conscription (for overseas service) in 1939 and 1940, and I am still against it in 1944."

Mr. Godbout also told a Liberal rally that farmers' sons "whether they now are in the services or if they did not comply with military service regulations, or even if they are considered deserters, will be exempted of any military service if they are given a certificate by their mayors and agronomists."

Premier Godbout only referred to farmers' sons who were drafted in the army and not to those who enlisted.

"It is because I have supported a Liberal government in Ottawa that you did not get conscription," Mr. Godbout said. "The present federal government understands agriculture and it is the reason why our sons, the farmers' sons, are on your farms. There is not one farmer's son in the army, if he is useful on the farm and has compiled with wartime regulations, because Mr. King (Prime Minister Mackenzie King) is at Ottawa."

WASHINGTON, July 10—Gen. Charles de Gaulle revealed today that he intends to install his provisional government in France as soon as possible and said the French army may have to occupy parts of Germany, including the Rhineland, for a long time after the war.

The general, who designated himself chief of the provisional French government, told more than 200 reporters at a press conference before leaving for New York that the "principal object" of his talks here with President Roosevelt had been attained.

He did not discuss details of this principal object but said he believed the groundwork had been laid for French-American negotiations about the civil administration of liberated areas of France.

Carnwood Area Farmer Drowns

Believed to have fallen into the creek running through his farm when a bank gave way under his feet, John L. Stanford, 67-year-old farmer of the Carnwood district, west of Leduc, lost his life by drowning on Friday last, according to R.C.M.P. Shortly after the message was received, another followed, stating that the body of the man had been recovered on a sand bar about 10 a.m. Monday.

According to Constable Hutton, of the R.C.M.P., the creek ran through the flood area, where considerable livestock was lost recently.

Dr. Treadgold, coroner, was advised, and decided that death had been accidental. No inquest will be held.

Canol, Good Neighbor Issue Of The Edmonton Bulletin Wins Widespread Acclaim

Praise—genuine, wholehearted, widespread, varied, unanimous—greeted the Canol and Good Neighbor edition of The Edmonton Bulletin issued on Saturday. From leaders in many walks of life, government, business, industrial, members of the judiciary, educationists and constant readers, a steady stream of messages of congratulation flowed into The Bulletin office over the week-end.

Hardly had the early copies of Saturday's noon edition reached the street when telephone calls commenced rolling in. The first was from one of the leading business men of this city, representing a nation-wide institution.

Then in unending stream came others, by visitors calling at the office, over the telephone, by telegram and letter.

The unanimous verdict was that the Canol and Good Neighbor edition was an unqualified success.

Many well-wishers stressed the incalculable advertising value the edition would have for the city as a whole, as its distribution will be spread over the entire North American continent, with many copies going outside.

ADVERTISING VALUE

They pointed out that the advertising value of such an edition could not be measured in dollars and cents, but that going as it would, to influential and authoritative quarters of Canada and the United States, it was bound to have a favorable reaction, not only during the war, but in the post-war period when expansion here undoubtedly would proceed rapidly.

Others emphasized the enterprise of The Bulletin in producing such an edition. They recalled that as the only Edmonton newspaper owned and controlled by Edmonton people, it had consistently advocated and fought for the development not only of Alberta and this city, but of the entire West, and the North as well. The championship of the West by The Bulletin was the subject of many specially warm comments.

Still others stressed the fact that the edition would provide in

464,000,000 Lbs. Bacon Bought For Gt. Britain

OTTAWA, July 10. — (CP) — Canadian Meat Board purchases of bacon for the United Kingdom to April 1, totalled 464,000,000 pounds, although the total minimum commitment for the calendar year is only 500,000,000 pounds, it was learned today.

The United Kingdom is taking all the bacon which can be made available by Canada. Under a two-year agreement Canada agreed to supply a minimum of 900,000,000 pounds in the year 1944 and 1945, but assured that every effort would be made to provide additional quantities.

Because of the enormous deliveries of hogs to market in every province, it now appears possible that the minimum requirements of the two years may be met in one, which would mean the purchase of 900,000,000 pounds of bacon for the United Kingdom in 1944.

800,000,000 POUNDS

"As things stand it looks very much as though we will be able to buy 800,000,000 pounds at least," one authority said.

Johnson Challenges Nazi Ace to Duel in Skies

By MONTAGUE TAYLOR
WITH THE R.A.F. IN FRANCE, July 10—(CP)—Wing Cmdr. J. E. (Johnny) Johnson, 28-year-old English commander of a Canadian fighter wing and top-scoring Allied fighter pilot, has challenged one of Germany's vaunted aces, to an aerial duel.

Johnson, with 35 destroyed enemy aircraft to his credit, revealed Saturday that he had sent out the challenge over his radio telephone to Mantoni, known to be fighting in the Normandy area and who claims to have destroyed 100 aircraft.

"Of course, it is very difficult to spot him in the midst of a dog-fight, but we have seen the uncommon sight of a Focke Wulf flying in the middle of a formation of Messerschmitt 109's as they slipped into cloud cover before we could get among them," said Johnson.

Mantoni has not made himself conspicuous to date. Our pilots have taunted him over their radio telephones which they know are constantly tapped as they fly.

"Now then, where's this chacked-up Mantoni?" frequently crackles in the ears of Luftwaffe radio operators in Normandy.

Mantoni's favorite trick is to fly on top of his formation, and then, as the fight begins, he pounces underneath at the opposing formations.

He is an expert at dropping on the tails of stragglers, or those of pilots who are temporarily trying to take evasive action in a tight corner.

Capture Series of Towns As Caen Being Mopped Up

By VIRGIL PINKLEY
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON, July 10.—British and Canadian forces slashed into the exposed German flank below newly-captured Caen today, and drove forward through three fortified villages to within less than half a mile of the Orne river defence line due south of Caen.

The Second Army, striking again even while the mop-up of the Caen area was underway, stormed through Eterville, Maltot and Bretteville-Sur-Odon in advances up to about a mile and overran the hotly-contested height called 112 Odon salient below Caen.

Meanwhile, Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery's American wing, advancing down the Mida-Normandy highway toward Periers, captured Saint-Eny, five miles southwest of Carentan, and other United States units expanded the bridgehead across the Vire for an average gain of about a mile, reaching a point only 7,000 yards from St. Lo.

The expansion of the Vire bridgehead almost brought the front in line with then general battle zone through the Caumont-St. Lo area, and a headquarters spokesman said Lt. Gen. Omar Bradley's 1st Army drive there "shows considerable long-term promise."

The British-Canadian armored force cutting in below Caen like a giant scythe began developing a possible encirclement manoeuvre against the German troops holding out grimly in the Fauborg de Vaucelles suburb of Caen.

KEY TO WHOLE AREA

The high ground captured by Lt. Gen. Sir Miles Dempsey's forces between the Odon and Orne was the key to the entire Caen sector, and the victory put the final seal

After War

Wallace Sees Big Expansion In Northwest

SEATTLE, July 10— (AP) — Vice-President Henry A. Wallace said in a radio address last night he was "convinced that a main area of development after this war—new enterprise, new investment, new trade, new accomplishments—will be in the new world of the North Pacific and eastern Asia."

The Vice President, returning from seven weeks in China and Siberian Russia laid particular stress in his talk on post-war co-operation and development of resources in the lands bordering the North Pacific ocean.

NATIONAL POLICY

Subsequently Representative Warren G. Magnuson (Dem.-Wash.) said Mr. Wallace had told him he believed that the development of the northwest area, meaning that of Alaska, western Canada and the western United States, should be a matter of permanent national policy.

Magnuson said the Vice-President's view was that development

10,000,000 Pounds Lard Sent Russia

OTTAWA, July 10—(CP)—Shipments of nearly 10,000,000 pounds of Canadian lard have been made to Russia, relieving a surplus situation which had developed in the Dominion, it was learned today.

The supplies are being forwarded under mutual aid arrangements, it was understood. The accumulation of a lard surplus caused anxiety for two reasons:

1. The storage space was urgently required for other purposes.

2. There was fear that a decline in lard values might result in a weakening of hog prices.

However, due to the stabilizing influence of the export bacon agreement, hog prices held up well despite the heaviest runs in the history of the industry, officials said.

Floating Debt Cut $163,080.79

Edmonton's floating debt was decreased by $163,080.79 during the first three months of this year, declining from $1,923,446.12 to $1,760,385.33, according to a report to be filed at city council Monday night by Messrs. Kinnaird and Aylen, city auditors.

The cash balance of the city shows a decrease of $353,386.04, but $1,200,000 was transferred from the bank to the reserve and sinking fund accounts during the three-month period.

The improvement in the city's position is largely due to tax collections of $1,755,493.71, or 51 per cent of the levy for the year.

Raps Optimism

Gen. Eisenhower Predicts Long, Bitter Fighting Ahead

By MERRILL MUELLER

GEN. EISENHOWER'S HEADQUARTERS, July 10.—(CP)—The supreme commander of the Allied expeditionary forces today warned against the growing optimism prevalent throughout the world and predicted long and bitter fighting before the final victory in Europe, with heavy losses.

Enumerating the long list of Allied successes in Russia, Africa, Italy and France since he first came to Europe at the fall of Tobruk two years ago, General Eisenhower said the trend toward over-optimism was understandable. But he emphasized it was the duty of people in responsible positions to state the facts.

Over-optimism doesn't take into consideration one main point—that we are now in a position to hit the Germans where it hurts and the Germans will fight back harder than ever.

FALSE HOPE

Thus General Eisenhower made it clear that while the possibility of a crack in German morale was not excluded, he believed gestapo control was so complete over Germany that internal collapse was a false hope.

The general said the taking of Caen was most gratifying and we are on the offensive all along the front.

General Eisenhower was greatly pleased with the Russian victory at Wilno. He said that 25 German divisions northeast of Wilno are badly compromised by its capture.

He said Allied air operations were beyond praise, but weather prevented co-ordination of the huge air power with tactical ground fighting and thus saved the enemy.

"UNUSUAL" WEATHER

The weather was so bad, the general said with a grin, that even the British admit it was unusual.

General Eisenhower today lunched with the Earl of Halifax, the British ambassador to Washington, and Maj. Gen. Bedell Smith, the chief of staff. Lord Halifax put great diplomatic emphasis on the recent Danish strike, pointing out that six months ago the German army would have been able to crush it rather than to bow to its demands.

"Mystery" Death

Halt Inquest To Continue Investigation

Inquiry Saturday afternoon into the death of Merill Frederick Lydell, Grande Prairie resident, whose body was found on Tuesday last on the Canadian Pacific Railway tracks, was adjourned while further police investigations were made. The adjournment came after a coroner's jury had sat for about an hour and a half.

Evidence of seven witnesses was heard, first of which was that of Dr. Morton E. Hall, pathologist, Royal Alexandra hospital, who performed a post-mortem on July 6.

The body had been decapitated, while a considerable portion of the skull was missing, he told the jury. Only a small part of the brain was missing, but there had been "massive and crushing injuries, decapitation and crushing of the skull."

The injuries, continued Dr. Hall, appeared to have occurred after death. Parts of organs and the brain, submitted to the provincial analyst, did not indicate the presence of alcohol.

WAS DEAD FIRST

He said he did not believe that the head or arm had been removed from the body before death. He thought there had been a short interval between the time of death and the time of crushing.

Robots Give Nazis Cheap Aerial Fleet

ALLIED SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, July 10. — (AP) — Gen. Eisenhower declared today that Germany's flying bomb in its present stage was not a very effective weapon except for attacks on sprawling metropolitan areas like London.

The supreme Allied commander said in an interview that within the reasonable future, there was little prospect that the weapon would improve in efficiency.

"The bomb is one of those things on which the military man must keep quiet for the moment," Gen. Eisenhower said, "but that doesn't mean I am not sympathetic to the people who are having to suffer from the damned things."

Gen. Eisenhower said the Allies have been successful in keeping the weapons down, to a certain extent. Scientists still must evolve something more effective than the defence measures now in use, he said.

"From the Germans' point of view, the flying bomb gives him a cheap air force," the commander said. "Even his bomber attacks are wild. They jettison bombs all the way from Lands End to Dover. The flying bomb is just as effective — and a damned sight cheaper."

War's Last Stage Declared at Hand

LONDON, July 10—(CP)—The Red Army will not stop its offensive until Berlin "the lair of the Hitler beast, caves in," said a Moscow radio commentator today. The commentator said:

"We have reached the last stage of the war."

British Driving Towards Enemy Orne River Line

on the conquest of the great inland port from which the Nazis were hammered by main strength.

A spokesman, however, emphasized that the Germans still were fighting fiercely all along the Normandy front, but had been obliged to throw in reserves they had been trying to build up for a showdown.

It was emphasized that wherever the Nazis were giving ground, they were doing so by orderly withdrawals, and nowhere was there a sign of disorganization in the enemy ranks or large-scale disengagement.

COMMAND HIGHWAY

With the seizure of Point 112 between the Orne and Odon, Dempsey's forces were able to command the highway running south and slightly west from Caen of Thury-Harcourt, leaving only the Caen-Falaise highway in German hands and relatively free of interference.

In the immediate area of Caen, which fell yesterday, German strong points which had been by-passed in the final assault on the city were being cleaned out systematically.

West of Caen the Germans counter-attacked along the Caumont-Tilly Sur Seulles line, but were held everywhere by the British.

A front dispatch said British armor, including Churchill and Sherman tanks, ranged the Odon-Orne corridor, backing up the infantry sweep against the high ground dominating the entire area.

ADVANCE DOWN ROAD

The Americans who captured Sainteny pressed on down the road from Carentan toward Heriers, the road hub controlling the territory between St. Lo and the west coast.

To the northwest, the Germans counter attacked strongly in the area of La Haye du Puits, captured yesterday, but the Americans beat off the blows and destroyed a number of enemy tanks.

The new British offensive, along with the Canadian thrusts across the Odon, also outflanked German troops defending the industrial suburbs of Caen on the south bank of the Orne, which turns sharply south after flowing east-west through Caen itself.

Front dispatches disclosed that Lt.-Gen. Sir Miles C. Dempsey's tanks and infantry, supported by warships and rocket-firing planes, had cleared a six-mile stretch of the north bank of the Orne in Caen and on either side of the city.

NOT ALL BRIDGES "OUT"

A headquarters spokesman said the final stages of the British advance into Caen yesterday were so rapid that the Germans were not believed to have had time to destroy all the bridges across the Orne.

The British first pushed across the Odon river some five miles southwest of Caen nearly two weeks ago and so developed their threat to the Orne river that the Germans committed a major portion of their armor there.

The line swayed back and forth during fierce German counter-attacks, but the British held firmly to their bridgehead and paved the way for the offensive launched today from its southeastern corner.

As the battle progresses it becomes increasingly clear that the British sixth airborne division, supported by Canadian artillery, did a magnificent job in capturing and holding ground over the Orne river, despite a score of German counter attacks.

THREATENS FLANK

Possession of this terrain represented an immediate danger to the German flank and the bridgehead was steadily strengthened and expanded during four weeks of heavy fighting.

The American 1st Army at the western end of the 111-mile front also was bending back the German line, which was described by Allied headquarters as everywhere in a "state of strain."

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower announced at 11 a.m. (3 a.m., M.D.T.) today that United Kingdom and Canadian armor and infantry, thrusting down all roads leading into Caen from the north and west, forced the enemy out of the city and back to the line of the river Orne yesterday.

"Reports received indicate that the enemy has suffered heavy casualties in this operation," the communique said.

The liberation of Caen cleared away one of the strongest obstacles on the highway and railway from Cherbourg to Paris, 120 miles to the east, and gave the Allies a first-class port which had a peacetime capacity of 2,000,000 tons of cargo a year, which exceeds that of Cherbourg. Caen, the largest city yet captured by the Allies in France, had a peacetime population of 50,000, some 20,000 more than Cherbourg.

R.A.F., Canucks Blast at Robot Launching Bases

By WALTER CRONKITE

LONDON, July 10—Hundreds of R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. Lancaster bombers, with a fighter escort, swept over northern France early today in what was believed new attacks on the German robot bomb-launching installations, while tactical forces again hit enemy communications behind the Normandy battlefront.

An air ministry communique identified the R.A.F. targets only as "military objectives," but coastal observers reported the great fleets of planes took only an hour and a half to shuttle over the straits, indicating the targets were somewhere nearby.

The communique said R.A.F. Mosquito bombers attacked a synthetic oil plant at Buer, in Prussia, last night.

HIT AT TRANSPORT

Other Mosquito forces, together with Bostons, carried out pre-dawn raids on a least 18 trans, railways and bridges over the Siene, directly behind the enemy lines, and harassed road convoys, at one point surprising a 10-mile long convoy of trucks near Chartres.

Despite bad weather, which sometimes forced fighters down to less than 300 feet, Allied planes yesterday made 3,000 sorties, including attacks by rocket-firing R.A.F. Tyhoons on German strongpoints just ahead of the troops in Caen.

Adverse weather hampered aerial operations from Italy, although Flying Fortresses and Liberators, with escorting fighters, hit the Ploesti oil fields in Romania.

of the Canadian northwest was part of a general pattern and the United States should co-operate wherever possible.

Magnuson said Wallace approved construction of a Pacific coast link with the Alaska highway from Prince George, B.C., to Whitehorse, Y.T., and said such a road would be part of the great highway and airway connections between the Pacific continents after the war.

CONSIDERABLE INTEREST

State Senator Donald A. McDonald, engineer and advocate of the Pacific route to Alaska, said Wallace expressed considerable interest in the future development of the Canadian Northwest.

Wallace travelled to Chungking and back with the same army transport crew that took Wendell Willkie around the world last year. Yesterday's flight was from Great Falls, Mont., crew members reported. The party left China July 3, travelling by way of Edmonton.

The homeward trip was interrupted twice for visits to scientific farms along the northern route, and came close to being delayed by scarlet fever at Edmonton. Lieut. William Golkowske, co-pilot, was quarantined there.

readily available form, a complete picture of the tremendous Canol project which was undertaken at a time when it seemed as though it was to be the only source of fuel oil to wage war against the Japanese aggressors. It would serve to place Canol in its proper perspective and would serve as an historical record second to none.

The good neighbor phase drew many comments. Many recalled that in the days when Britain had stood alone, the United States had come forward and shown its good neighborliness, and this had been demonstrated at an even greater extent since the Japanese sneak attack at Pearl Harbor, which brought the United States into the war on the side of the Allies.

The Canol and Good Neighbor Edition aggregated 100 pages which is the largest edition of The Bulletin ever published and it has been equalled in size on few occasions in Canadian history.

The Canol and Good Neighbor Edition has proved a worthy running mate of the Alaska Highway edition brought out by The Bulletin just a year ago, in tribute to that other great engineering feat of this war which the Nazis publicly claimed was impossible. In size the Canol exceeded its predecessor by eight pages.

Below are some of the many comments and tributes received by The Bulletin for the Canol and Good Neighbor Edition:

Premier Ernest Manning: The Canol and Good Neighbor Edition of The Edmonton Bulletin is one of the most comprehensive, most complete and authoritative productions not only in Western, but in Canadian newspaper work. I commend The Bulletin on its foresight, enterprise and thoroughness for a fine job.

Hon. Mr. Justice Frank Ford: Congratulations to Charles E. Campbell and the staff of The Edmonton Bulletin on the wonderful production they have made. It is a contribution not only to the history of Edmonton and the province of Alberta but will be of great value to the future development of the natural resources of the province and in the development of air transportation.

Hon. Mr. Justice W. R. Howson, Alberta appeal court: The Edmonton Bulletin, in the Alaska Highway Edition of last year, and the Canol and Good Neighbor Edition of this year, has advertised Edmonton, Alberta and the fabulously rich northland to an extent never before either thought of, or approached. To the publisher and staff of The Bulletin I extend sincere congratulations on a great and valuable task magnificently conceived and performed.

Mayor John W. Fry: It is an excellent edition and contains many informative articles. Its publication is a matter of some importance to Edmonton as it contains so much material relative to development of our northland.

Maj.-Gen. W. W. Foster, C.M.G., D.S.O., V.D., special commissioner for defence projects in northwest Canada: The edition was a very fine one.

Lt.-Col. F. S. Strong, commanding officer of the Northwest Service Command, U.S. Army: We of the Northwest Service Command, U.S. Army, are gratified and pleased with the Canol and Good Neighbor edition of The Edmonton Bulletin. We wish to thank the editors and the staff of the newspaper for honoring us in welcoming us as good neighbors, and paying tribute to the accomplishments of our command. This edition typifies the cordial attitude which the press of Canada has taken toward the Northwest Service Command, an attitude for which we are most grateful. Such editorial opinions and presentation of information to the public have done much to make successful the joint Canadian-American projects of the Northwest.

Teddy Butterworth: The finest edition ever put out in Western Canada, a credit to The Edmonton Bulletin and those who arranged for the issue. It is quite a factor for all who subscribe to The Bulletin.

Elmer E. Roper, leader of the C.C.F. party in Alberta: As a newspaper achievement alone The Edmonton Bulletin special edition of the northern Canol project is worthy of admiration. As a description of an international development on Canadian soil it makes a valuable contribution to the knowledge of readers about a source of natural wealth that may prove to be very important in the days ahead. How the natural resources of the great hinterland shall be developed in the future is a matter of great concern to Canada. Every effort such as The Bulletin special edition to give us more information about them should be welcomed.

S. C. S. Kerr, K.C., president of the Canadian Corps Association: A very good edition and very much to the point, particularly when the Canadian government is taking over control in so many places. It was a splendid gesture to pay tribute to the U.S. Army for the magnificent job it has done.

Gerald O'Connor, K.C. The edition has shown the almost insurmountable objects which have been overcome in putting through the pipeline. The record of Blanchet, Fuller and Murphy reveals for the first time the hardships and just what had to be done. Blanchet's diary shows that his party suffered the same privations and encountered the same difficulties as Franklin and Mackenzie. The Bulletin is to be congratulated on telling for the first time the story of what has taken place.

Ald. Sidney Parsons, president Trades and Labor Council: I am greatly impressed with the mass of informative matter contained in the articles by high ranking military and civilian leaders. The pictures of the northland are very good, and should lure many tourists to the Alaska highway.

Everette T. Love, managing director Woodland Dairy: It is an interesting and enlightening history of the immense wartime development of the northland by the American and Canadian governments. It is timely and well done. It represents a great deal of work and The Edmonton Bulletin deserves much credit.

Carl E. Berg, vice - president Trades and Labor Congress of Canada: The Canol and Good Neighbor Edition is a splendid success. I wish to congratulate The Bulletin on the excellent articles, and the splendid pictures appearing in the special edition.

James Walker, manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce: A remarkable edition. I was much impressed with the achievement.

Stanley H. McCuaig, K.C.: It is a splendid and exceedingly interesting production. A fine thing for the city to be done at this time and I am sure a great benefit to Edmonton will result from the United States, where many will read it.

W. J. Williams, secretary-manager of the Canadian Legion, Edmonton Branch: I think it is a wonderful edition, very comprehensive and complete, and an expression of appreciation to the Americans for what they have done for us here in this province.

Dr. Robert Newton, president of the University of Alberta: It is a volume favorable to the needs and potentialities of the north. Development of the north is of national interest, and the articles and pictures contained in The Bulletin Canol Edition are such that they will focus public attention upon a country of which little is known to the average person.

J. G. Nickerson, manager of the main branch of the Royal Bank of Canada: It is a good edition, and Bulletin personnel responsible for its final completion are to be congratulated. The edition pays a high tribute to the Canadian and American men and women who surmounted vast obstacles to finish this great project.

R. C. Marshall, managing-director Crown Paving Company: The Bulletin is to be complimented upon the excellent set-up and fine articles in the Canol project and Good Neighbor edition of Saturday. It prophesies a great future for Edmonton, and possibilities for further development in the realms of the north.

G. A. Owen, manager of the west-end branch, Royal Bank of Canada: The edition is a splendid accomplishment. It will do much to further the friendship of Canadians and Americans. I believe copies should be sent to Allied service men in the north who would be vastly interested in the articles.

R. S. Sheppard, superintendent of Public Schools: Material contained in the Canol edition is instructive and makes us realize the great development taking place in the regions of the north. It also indicates the fine spirit of co-operation that has existed and which will continue to exist between Canada and the U.S.A. I have no doubt but that many pupils in various parts of Alberta and B.C. will file copies of this issue for social studies projects.

Bruce Wilson, civilian pilot at No. 2 A.O.S.: The Canol edition is not only interesting to those who worked on the Canol project, but also has caused favorable talk among northern and city fliers. Many of the air force and civilian pilots have purchased copies for souvenirs, and others are clipping a number of the pictures and articles for scrapbooks and future reference.

Ralph Oakes, pilot with C.P.A.: In my flights up the line I have met many of the Americans and Canadians connected with the Canol project, and they deserve all the praise we can give them. Articles and pictures in the Saturday edition of the Bulletin certainly show to advantage the excellent work which has been done in the north country. It is an edition well worth while keeping.

J. Percy Page, Independent party president: The Bulletin is to be congratulated for an exceptionally fine piece of work. The issue will attract considerable attention in the United States as well as in Canada, and I am sure will have a great appeal to Americans. It will also serve to educate readers as to the geography and vast resources of Canada's Northwest.

Lt.-Col. E. Brown, M.M., E.D., chairman Alberta Veterans' Welfare Commission: The issue contains wonderful publicity for the north country. It was quite a journalistic effort, and will do much to popularize the north country, and bring it before thousands of people in Canada and the United States.

L. E. Drummond, secretary manager, Chamber of Mines: I would like to congratulate The Bulletin on the excellent way in which it compiled the history of the Canol project which is one of the greatest developments and which will mould the destiny of northwestern Canada. The edition is such that it will cement the feeling of good-will between Canada and the U.S.A. It also will draw attention to the possibilities in a territory which has proven the most productive in Canada. I have had the opportunity of appreciating the sterling worth of the engineers connected with the Canol project, because for 14 months I was acting as the sole contact representative for the Canadian government in Edmonton, with the Canol project. In this capactiy and as liaison officer I would like to express sincere appreciation for the assistance and co-operation of the American engineers.

the end of 1943 had been described as "startling," but officials said it now appeared certain that even better records would be made in shipments this year.

They said the 1944 figures indicated that fears of a decline in hog production this year because of attractive grain prices had not as yet been borne out. There had been some forecasts that western farmers in particular might decide that raising grain for sale was more profitable than continuing hog production on a large scale.

Under a 1939 contract Canada supplied 330,000,000 pounds of bacon to the United Kingdom. Under a 1940 contract more than 440,000,000 pounds were provided. Under a contract made in 1941, 600,000,000 pounds were shipped and in 1942 a contract was made to ship 675,000,000 pounds by the end of 1943, and this contract was met.

In the fall of 1943 an agreement was made under which not less than 900,000,000 pounds would be shipped in the next two years.

SEEK EXTENSION

Arrangements now are going forward to have the present two-year contract extended to four years, with the probability that a minimum figure of shipments will be set wth the United Kingdom agreeing to take additional supplies as they become available.

Hog carcass gardings as reported by the Dominion Agriculture Department totalled 3,165,21 for this year to July 1, compared with 3,293,076 for the same period in 1943.

Gains in production were reported all across the Dominion. British Columbia gradings for 1944 to July 1 totalled 118,961 against 54,337 in the same period of 1943.

Other provinces' gradings for 1944, with 1943 figures in brackets, follow:

Alberta 1,344,997 (870,750); Saskatchewan 699,270 (387,547); Manitoba 1,233,152 (806,855); Ontario 1,121,73 (858,606); Quebec 570,158 (268,536); Maritimes 77,810 (66,118).

Halt Inquest To Continue Investigation

Mrs. Mary Lydell, wife of the late Merril F. Lydell, told the jury that she last saw her husband at Vegreville on Monday of last week.

She was not out of bed when he left for Edmonton, early that morning, with the object of hiring two men, she continued. When she awoke about 9.30 a.m., he had already left in the truck.

Her husband took along his sleeping bag, said Mrs. Lydell, on the chance that if he could not get two men that day, he would remain over in the city and sleep in his truck.

Frank Champagne of Fort Smith stated he had worked for Lydell but that his tme was up on June 30. He accompanied the latter to the city, he said, leaving Vegreville between 8.30 and 9 a.m. He left Lydell between 11 and 12 noon, he added, near 96 street and Jasper avenue, but saw him later, between 4.00 and 5.00 p.m. at the Ritz hotel.

At the latter hour, continued Champagne, Lydell was in company with two men and was "perfectly sober." The witness said he himself was with another party at the time and this was the last he saw of Lydell.

BODY BETWEEN RAILS

Anthony C. Eby, Red Deer, C.P.R. conductor, told the jury that his switcher train left Edmonton at 7.25 a.m. for the south. When the engineer brought the train to a stop one pole north of Mile 93, (four miles south of South Edmonton C.P.R. station), he got out and saw the body lying between the rails.

Getting a nearby farmer to watch the body, after notifying police, the witness said the train left the scene as it was necessary to allow a northbound train, then on its way to Edmonton, a clear track.

The witness stated he could see that the head had been cut off and was lying south of the body, while the right arm had been disconnected and was lying to the north and outside the tracks. He was positive that the multilations had been caused by the train he was on, he concluded.

Constable C. F. Oatway, R.C.M.P., told of finding the body which appeared to have been dragged about 300 feet, with wallet and papers, shoes and hat, a sweater, part of a windbraker and parts of trousers strewn along the tracks.

Contents of a stomach were found on some grass, while the grass itself appeared to have had someone lying on it.

BETWEEN CROSSINGS

About half a mile north of the scene was a private crossing, while a public crossing lay about an equal distance to the south.

There was very little evidence of blood, said the officer, and there was no indication that the railway fence had been broken down.

W. H. Magee, South Edmonton Canadian Pacific engineer, stated that he had piloted the head engine of a two-engine train which left the city at 1:50 a.m. Tuesday morning. He was in the cab of locomotive No. 2563, while engine No. 441 was behind. The train would reach Mile 93 six or seven minutes after leaving the South Side station, he said.

Questioned about the accident, the witness said that the train had struck and ran over an animal—a groundhog or porcupine, south of Millet that day, but he had looked over the engine in Red Deer because he had heard there was blood on it, on Thursday.

Mr. Magee said he saw and heard nothing out of the ordinary when passing Mile 93. He would not say it was impossible to see a body that might be there, he told the jury.

Constable G. B. Harrison, R.C.M.P., told of examining C.P.R. locomotives Nos. 2563 and 441 at Red Deer on July 5.

FROM UNDER ENGINES

His examination took him under the engines where, over the second pilot truck of the first engine, he found what appeared to be human flesh and hair, which he scraped off. Almost from an identical position under the second locomotive, he found dried blood, he said.

At this point, Dr. E. A. Braithwaite, chief provincial coroner, presiding officer, ordered that the specimens be sent to the provincial analyst.

The railway company was represented by D. N. Clapperton, assistant solicitor, of Calgary. The proceedings were conducted by Sgt. Fred A. Broadrib, R.C.M.P.

Members of the jury are: J. W. Parks, foreman; Francis LeGassick, R. J. Talbot, Francis Taylor, E. W. Armstrong and George Bagnall.

Waste in North Again Charged

VANCOUVER, July 10.—(CP)—The Daily Province printed a second newspage article Saturday by a staff reporter regarding alleged salvage waste on the Alaska highway.

The article said that denial by officials that any waste had occurred did not alter the facts and that the reporter was told in Fort St. John of what was termed "criminal dumping of perfectly good material that was not required any longer on the road."

One man was quoted as saying he had got a fine new stove from one dump. Another had salvaged a brand new kitchen range. Prominent citizens of the region were critical of the destruction of property, the article said.

The reporter told of visits to several dumps, including one 1,000 feet wide where the Moberley river enters the Peace. The top of the hill was fringed with people, while the dump had the appearance of an ant hill as men and women worked and sorted over material. One farmer, the story said, proudly exhibited a big barrel heater brand new and a patent water heater that he had recovered. More stoves could be seen among the trees below.

Report Slav King Stakes His Crown On Post-War Vote

LONDON, July 10.—(CP)—The Morocco radio, quoting Allied headquarters at Algiers, said last night King Peter of the Yugoslav government-in-London had signed a pact with Partisan Marshal Tito agreeing to stake his crown on a post-war plebiscite and granting Tito complete command of all military forces in Yugoslavia.

The broadcast said King Peter agreed not to attempt to return to Yugoslavia until the country had been freed from the Germans, and agreed to suspend all other political issues until after the war.

It said creation of a Yugoslav federation composed of Slovenia, Crotia, Serbia, Montenegro, Macedonia, Bosnia and Herzegovina was agreed upon, and confiscation of the property of Nazi collaborationists approved.

Nazi Defences Below Livorno Under Threat

By REYNOLDS PACKARD

ROME, July 10—American troops smashed four miles beyond Volterra within a few hours after capturing the key outpost before Livorno and threatened today to turn the coastal defences some 10 miles below the great Tyrrhenian port which had stalled a frontal push against it.

Lt.-Gen. Mark W. Clark's forces pushing northward from Volterra, last of the big mountain fortress towns which the Germans converted into strongholds to impede the American advance, battled the 90th Panzer grenadier divisions.

The British eighth Army was in close contract with the enemy along the entire front. It found the Germans digging in strongly and moving up reinforcements around Arezzo, vital transport centre southeast of Florence.

NAZI COUNTER-ATTACKS

The Germans launched a number of counter-attacks, some of which forced Allied withdrawals. But all positions were restored later.

Southwest of Arezzo the Germans struck heavily on high ground near Viciomaggio and gained some ground, but a battalion of a famous British regiment reclaimed the area.

Other units of the Eighth Army captured Pietralunga, 23 miles north of Perugia. The biggest gains reported were by British forces advancing five miles along the upper Tiber, where they were eight miles northeast of Umbertide.

Russians Make Sweeping Gains On All Fronts

Agency to have announced new Russian gains on both sides of Wilno, almost cutting off the German garrison which Berlin admitted had fallen back to new street barricades on the third day of fighting inside the city.

PLANNING RETREAT

A British United Press dispatch from Moscow reported "characteristic activity by the enemy in central Lithuania which always indicates preparation for a big withdrawal." It added that the reports indicated the Germans had given up hope of halding the Baltic States and were getting ready to pull out.

The dispatch said the bodies of 25,000 persons executed in the Kaunas district had been dug up and burned to destroy evidence. "Whenever the Germans are preparing to withdraw, they now proceed to destroy the evidence of their occupation," it added.

Utena is 43 miles southwest of Daugavpils and 25 miles beyond the Wilno-Daugavpils railroad, the spine of the upper section of the German defence line that is falling apart under the pounding of Russia's most successful offensive of the war.

30-MILE ADVANCE

Fighting at Utena would mean a Red Army push of more than 30 miles northwestward from the last positions reported by Moscow, and would pose a direct threat of entrapment against all the German forces in the upper Baltic area, who would be cut off by a push of 125 miles to the Gulf of Riga.

The Germans also reported that their Wilno garrison had retreated to the centre of the Soviet Lithuanian capital, where they dug in behind barricades as street fighting for the vital bastion on the approaches to East Prussia went into its third day.

C.C.F. Cannot Win in Quebec Minister Says

The C.C.F. Party stands no chance in Quebec whatever in the coming provincial election in that province, Hon. Solon E. Low, national leader of the Social Credit Party, stated Monday on his return from a Quebec Social Credit congress.

Only constituency in the province where the C.C.F. might win is Verdun, the Social Credit leader said, and its chances of success there are "mighty slim."

The Social Credit Party in Quebec, running 11 straight candidates, has a "rattling good chance" of winning in every contest, Mr. Low said. The S.C. candidates are young, well-trained in Social Credit principles, and are only running in constituencies where a strong demand exists.

OTHERS RUNNING

In addition to these 11 candidates, a number of others not calling themselves Social Credit but prepared to support Social Credit principles will be running, said Mr. Low.

He denied there was any connection between the Social Credit party in Quebec and the Bloc Populaire. "There is no understanding between the two parties at all. Social Credit is fighting its own battle in Quebec."

Mr. Low was enthusiastic regarding progress of his party in Quebec. His attendance at the three-day congress held just outside Quebec City was marked by tremendous ovations and widespread public interest, he reported.

The national Social Credit leader, Alberta's provincial treasurer and minister of education, said he had nothing to add to statements on refunding he has already made.

He will announce personal plans regarding the provincial election within a few days. Nominated as Social Credit candidate in Warner constituency, Mr. Low plans to visit the riding Tuesday, to discuss his course of action with supporters there.

De Gaulle Plans Set Up Capital On French Soil

ive talks on the grave question of common interest to the United States and France in this great war and after the war."

"I don't think that the occupation of Germany can be realized without an inter-Allied agreement which would have to include France," he said. "I anticipate that a long occupation of Germany will be necessary."

Questioned on the subject of a plebiscite, which Roosevelt has indicated will be necessary before this country could formally recognize any French government, de Gaulle said the matter was not discussed—"because," he added, "that is a purely French question."

But at the proper time, he continued, the French will conduct a plebiscite.

De Gaulle said he believed that international security after the war will require an international police force or national forces bound together by agreements.

"The small nations," he said, "must be included in any such arrangements, I don't think that any group of nations—big or little—should have control."

De Gaulle left by plane for New York at 9:55 a.m. EDT. He received there a welcome from Mayor F. H. LaGuardia and the French colony after which he will proceed to Canada, where the Dominion, especially the Province of Quebec, is eagerly preparing to greet him.

Divorce More Difficult To Obtain in Russia, Family Aid Increased

By EDDIE GILMORE

MOSCOW, July 10.—(AP)—The Supreme Soviet, in a sweeping decree to strengthen family life, yesterday made divorces much more difficult to obtain and granted financial aid for large families, ranging up to a lump sum of 5,000 rubles or $950 at birth of an 11th child, plus a monthly payment of 300 rubles or $57.

State aid begins with a grant of 400 rubles at birth of a third child. A fourth child brings a $247 payment and $15.20 per month, with lump sums and monthly aid increasing up to $950 and $57 monthly for the 11th child and each thereafter Monthly payments continue until children are five years old.

The decree—causing a sensation throughout Russia—also created honors for mothers, the highest one "mother heroine" for women rearing 10 or more children, revised family taxes to encourage births, tightened laws against abortionsts, liberalized aid for pregnant women, and ordered increased production of baby clothes.

DIVORCE LAW CHANGE

The change in divorce laws was especially sweeping. Heretofore if a husband and wife both desired separation they could obtain a divorce in Russia within a few minutes upon applicatin at a registration office.

The new decree requires both parties to file a petition in court and appear personally before a people's court, which hears all the evidence, then seeks to determine if it cannot effect a reconciliation. If this is believed impossible, the petition can be carried to a higher court. Witnesses must be heard in both courts.

Should the higher court decide to grant a divorce, then the paper will be returned with signatures to the registration office, where it may cost the petitioner anyway from 500 to 2,000 rubles.

Family benefit payments formerly were given only to mothers with seven or more offspring. Such aid now is in effect for mothers with two or more children.

STRESS BIG FAMILIES

The new decrees also put additional emphasis on big families by enacting new taxes for both the man and wife who have less than three children.

Childless citizens must pay six per cent of their yearly income; citizens with only one child one per cent; citizens with two or three children one-half of one per cent.

Persons affected by the taxes are males between 20 and 50, and females between 20 and 40. Exemptions are granted to Red Army men and their wives.

Other exceptions include parents who lose children in the war; students under 25; invalids, and cripples.

AID FOR WOMEN

The government also enacted new exemptions for pregnant women. Their leave from work was extended from the present 63 days to 77—35 before birth and 42 afterward. Pregnant women will receive a double food ration after six months of pregnancy. New facilities in kindergartens and nurseries will be provided for nursing mothers.

Coldwell Says Monopolists Block Unity

VERDUN, Que., July 10—(CP)—C.C.F. leader Coldwell said Saturday night that the war has "undoubtedly accentuated the divisions" between English and French-speaking Canadians and the need is "greater today than even before to discover the basic unity of the Canadian people."

"That basic unity must be sought in the realms of political justice," said Mr. Coldwell, delivering a prepared address at a combined provincial and federal nominating convention in Verdun constituency.

LARGEST FACTOR

"The largest single factor dividing the Canadian people against themselves and poisoning relationship between French and English speaking compatriots, is the reign of monopoly—capitalism. It is in the interests of the monopolists, but in the interests of no one else, to keep Franch Canada as a vast, sprawling low-wage area."

Mr. Coldwell said basic unity must be found upon "a recognition of genuine differences in language, culture and tradition."

"French Canada, like the rest of the country, enjoys political liberty; but, as is also true of other provinces, it continues to languish in economic bondage. There lies the greatest single obstacle to national unity in Canada today.

"Sub-standard wages in Quebec drag down wages in every other part of Canada. The time has come when the workers, farmers and middle class people of Quebec must join with their fellows in the other provinces to end the reign of the monopolists."

Imphal Defenders Kill 11,000 Japs

KANDY, Ceylon, July 10—(AP)—Defenders of Imphal in Manipur state killed more than 11,000 Japanese since the enemy incursion into India began in March, a southeast Asia command communique said Saturday night. Bitter fighting continues in the area around Ukhrul, 24 miles northeast of Imphal, where the enemy still is strongly entrenched in the northern outskirts, the bulletin said.

Guerilla "Island" in Russia

MOSCOW, July 10.—(AP)—The story of a vast Russian guerilla "island," ringed with barbed wire and mines, which held out behind the German lines in White Russia for three years, was revealed yesterday following juncture of its fighting forces with the advancing Red Army.

Two correspondents for the army paper Red Star, Lt.-Col. Nikolai Prokofiev and Maj. Yakov Litesky, sent the story back after talking to hundreds of the residents of this strange guerilla land in the triangle formed by Borisov, Lepel and Minsk, recently liberated from the Nazis.

The guerilla land, embracing "hundreds of villages," the correspondents said, "never submitted and never recognized the Germans."

"Business" Goes on

French in "Happy Mood" As Guns, Planes Blast Foe

By LOUIS HUNTER

WITH THE CANADIANS IN FRANCE, July 10.—(CP)—A bronzed old Norman peasant with that weather-beaten look of the tillers of the soil, trudged along a dusty road near the Caen front Saturday. As he passed our parked Jeep he pulled his hand out of baggy denim trousers and turned and smiled.

"Envoyez," he said, waving his hand over his head in a gesture that meant he wanted the Allies to keep giving the Germans the hell they are getting at the moment.

And it certainly was hell they were getting, not only from hundreds of guns forming a sustained barrage but also from wave upon wave of Allied medium bombers which dropped tons of bombs on German positions.

MUSIC TO EARS

It seemed as if the earth were shaking. It was music to the old man's ears. German shells were crumping in the road but the old man walked merrily on his way, convinced that France at last was to be freed from the Germans.

It was pretty much the same with all the French people we met.

Most villages near the front seemingly were deserted but the people we did see in the streets old men, old women and children—went about their business. The farmers in the fields went on pitching hay.

Down one lane padded an old woman, wrapped in a shawl, with a basket of vegetables in one arm, a bunch of red flowers in the other. A young woman was wheeling a baby in a carriage. They all showed one thing in common—smiles.

TONIC FOR NERVES

The coolness and unconcern of the peasants and of the troops around their countless foxholes in the fields had a tonic effect on the nerves of a newcomer to the battlefields.

As we walked among the Canadian soldiers we found them shaving, cheerful andl paying little attention to all the row up forward. One fellow stood with one foot in his foxhole, the other on the edge, shining his shoe.

Jews in Poland Slain by Nazis

LONDON, July 10—(CP)—From April, 1942, to April, 1944, between 1,500,000 and 1,750,000 Jews were put to death by gas or other methods, in the German concentration camps of Oswiecim and Birkenau in Poland, states a report received by Allied governments in London from an authoritative non-Jewish source in a neutral country.

The report, based on statements by eye-witnesses who had escaped from the camps in April last, was referred to by Foreign Secretary Eden and Brandan Bracken, minister of information, in the House of Commons last week.

Oswiecim camp houses 15,000 prisoners of all types, criminal, political and racial of all nationalities, including Germans and Russians.

The camp doctor divides sick persons into two groups—seriously ill in one group and curable in another. The former are disposed of by a phenol injection near the heart, but 90 per cent of all Jews, whether curable or not, receive the injection.

Declares Quebec Only Wants Rights Of Confederation

THREE RIVERS, Que., July 10—(CP)—Maurice Duplessis, leader of the Union Nationale party and former Quebec premier, opening here last night his campaign for the Aug. 8 general provincial elections said "Quebec is not Fascist or separatist" and "only wants the complete and absolute respect of the rights guaranteed to it by the Confederation Pact."

In his 90-minute address, Mr. Duplessis said Premier Godbout was "giving up all our (Quebec's) rights to the centralizing government." He frequently referred to "encroachments" on Quebec rights by the federal government "with the consent and help of Mr. Godbout."

General de Gaulle Completes Talks With Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, July 10—(AP)—General de Gaulle worked yesterday on plans for the liberation of France after concluding his conversations with President Roosevelt, pronounced successful on both sides.

No agreements were reached and the talks were general, but both French and American officials said that a spirit of sympathy and understanding has arisen between the two leaders and this is expected to pave the way for a concrete agreement later on.

An accord negotiated by the British government and the French committee in London detailing plans for the civil administration of France is now up for American approval.

Gandhi Urges Separate Hindu, Moslem States

BOMBAY, July 10.—(CP)—Mohandas K. Gandhi has proposed that India be partitioned into separate Hindu and Moslem states as a means of breaking the political deadlock over India's independence.

His plan to eliminate Moslem objections to plans for independence from British rule has been presented to Mahomed Ali Jinnah, president of the all-India Moslem League through Chakravarthi Rajagopalachari, former all-India Congress president.

Jinnah wrote to Rajagopalachari that the proposition will be placed before the working committee of the Moslem League, if Gandhi will make the offer direct instead of through an intermediary.

His correspondence with Rajagopalachari nowhere suggests, however, that Jinnah finds the plan satisfactory.

MOSLEM OBJECTIONS

One of the reasons for the failure of the British plan for post-war independence of India, offered by Sir Stafford Cripps in the spring of 1942, was Moslem insistence the plan did not insure an independent Moslem state.

Jinnah long has insisted that Hindus and Moslems cannot live harmoniously under a system of a United India.

This correspondence contains six points.

1. The Moslem League must cooperate with the All-India Congress in the formation of a transitional government.

2. At the end of the war, a plebiscite on the basis of adult franchise will be held in areas where the Moslem population is in an absolute majority. If the verdict favors a sovereign Moslem state, border districts will be given the right to choose whether they will join the new Moslem India or the new Hindu India.

3. It must be open on all parties to advocate their points of view before the plebiscite is held.

4. In the event of separation, a mutual agreement shall be entered into to safeguard defence, commerce and communications.

VOLUNTARY TRANSFERS

5. Any transfer of population must be on an absolutely voluntary basis.

6. The terms shall be binding only in case of a transfer by Great Britain of full power and responsibility of government to India.

Great Welcome

People of Caen Elated As Allies Enter City

By WILLIAM SMITH WHITE

CAEN, France, July 10.—(AP)—The people of Caen—those who are left—shouted and sometimes cried for joy in their littered streets last night as British and Canadian troops nailed down the greatest Allied victory since Cherbourg.

I entered this city Sunday afternoon while fighting still was going on just to the southeast of the centre of Caen.

The city itself has been heavily damaged. French civilians already were clearing the wreckage here and there.

I came in with two others, Capt. Colin Rayment of Montreal, a Canadian officer, and Alan Wood of the London Daily Express, and we were astonished to find ourselves treated as a sort of Allied delegation.

The people all seemed young or old. No one could doubt the spontaneous exultation of these people as we hit the main city from the suburbs of St. Germain la Blanche.

In front of the cathedral itself about 30 Frenchmen and women were gathered. At first they thought I was with the Red Cross, but when I told them "journalist"—my idea of French—and showed them the "U.S." patch on my shoulder, they pressed forward and patted me, crying "American, American."

Embarrassed, I pointed to Wood saying "English, English," and then to Rayment, saying "Canadian, Canadian."

A great hullabaloo broke out—more noise than I had ever heard 30 people make—and the central idea of it was they were exclaiming at the felicity of this Allied entry, so I was told by Rayment who speaks French.

Hitler Reported Directing Nazi Troops in West

LONDON, July 10—(CP)—Moscow radio Saturday quoted Yankov Viktoroy, Pravda correspondent, as saying that Hitler himself had taken over direction of military operations in the west after the removal of Field Marshal Gen. Karl Rudolf Gerd Von Rundstedt.

"This is in itself an admission of failure," Viktorov added.

A German announcement two days ago said Von Rundstedt had been replaced by Field Marshal Gen. Guenther Von Kluge.

The Moscow radio said Saturday it was rumored in Stockholm that Von Rundstedt had been placed under house arrest.

DNB. announcements of Rundsted's replacement had said Adolf Hitler had written the general a cordial letter promising another important assignment.

Grain Dust Blast Takes Six Lives

MIDLAND, Ont., July 10—(CP)—Death toll from an explosion which wrecked the Aberdeen grain elevator here Saturday, yesterday rose to six with the death in hospital of four more employees.

Two men—Isaac Fry, 42, and John Wheeler 70—were killed instantly.

Other dead are: Apple Cowie, Clarence Miller, 24, Alfred Robins, 73, and Midas Bierriault, 42.

The blast, caused from spontaneous combustion, was followed by a "flash fire" which spread quickly throughout the entire building starting small fires at a number of places. The whole top section was blown out and when firemen arrived the elevator tower was a mass of flames.

The injured men, hardly recognizable because of burns, walked unassisted along eight grain tanks—about 175 feet—and climbed down a 100-foot ladder. At the bottom of the ladder they were hurried into a waiting ambulance.

Troops Afraid Jobs Will Go To "Zombies"

QUEBEC, July 10.—(CP)—Rehabilitation is the principal thought of the Canadian troops in Italy, Wallace Reyburn, war correspondent of the Montreal Standard, said last night in an address on the CBC broadcast, "Headliners of the Week."

He said the men did not expect to be home "within a few months," but they are afraid "that while they're sitting in Europe waiting to be brought back to Canada, the Zombies (N.M.R.A. recruits) will have been demobilized and will pick up all the good jobs."

DISCUSSION GROUP

"I sat in on a discussion group conducted by Maj. Edgar Bailey of Winnipeg, padre of The Loyal Edmonton Regiment. . . . They were just ordinary guys—farmers, bricklayers, baker assistants, truck drivers—and it was inspiring to listen to the way they discussed Canada and the future of Canada and where they would fit into that picture of the future," Reyburn said.

"I was struck by their unselfishness. . . . They agreed that it was a post-war problem for everybody, to be worked out in the best way for everybody, not just each person individually."

The men in this discussion group agreed that public works in Canada after the war should be undertaken not as unemployment projects at reduced wages, but as employment projects at standard rates of pay, Mr. Reyburn said.

Some liked the army life and desired to remain in the services after the war. They felt that Canada should maintain a strong army, navy and air force after the war "not to make war but to ensure peace."

An Alberta Election

In calling an Alberta general election on August 8, Premier Ernest Manning has shown good judgment. It is reasonable that he should wish for a public mandate in the office he took over from the late William Aberhart.

The election date, as announced, gives ample time for the voters to know what they will be voting for, what they will be voting against—and why. A long drawn out campaign does not necessarily inform public opinion; sometimes it bewilders and aggravates it.

There is no serious element of surprise in Mr. Manning's announcement. For months the three political parties, Social Credit, Independent and the C.C.F., have been urging their supporters to select their candidates. However, the apathy shown by the Independent party towards the election is readily understood, as is the hysterical efforts of the C.C.F. to capitalize on their success in Saskatchewan.

The Manning Government has a record unequalled by any provincial government in Canada for progressive health and social legislation. Its record in aid of and in protection to the farmers, to the limit of provincial powers, should receive the unanimous support of farmers.

Industrial and commercial employees in the lower wage groups have received the protection of the Minimum Wage Act and through the rigid enforcement of that act have had restored to them tens of thousands of dollars in back pay which had been unfairly withheld.

Premier Manning has given Alberta able, honest and efficient administration.

Save the Resources

Soil conservation and systematic forest protection are being urged as nation-wide postwar policies for Canada.

Anyone in Canada who can further either or both soil and forest causes is entitled to the good wishes of Canadians.

Western farmers, mindful of the soil drifting of dry years, know by hard experience the folly of soil mining, of denuding it of its natural grass fibres. Eastern farmers in many parts can feel the same way as they look at barren fields and deserted orchards that once were fertile.

The forests of Canada have been victims of man's vandalism and neglect. Lush hillsides have been turned into gaunt and grotesque rockpiles or eroding sandheads, both by careless and uncontrolled logging and by the even greater menace of fire. For every forest denuded, an area probably one hundred times as great is the sufferer. For the laws of nature are inexorable about her trees. They help to regulate moisture, and therefore the country's water courses and its water levels and its very ability to produce.

Estimates of the number of people who can be sustained by forest employment range all the way from thousands to millions. Perhaps the right figure is somewhere between the extremes, as regards direct employment.

But this can safely be said, that the returns of employment, and therefore the welfare of no less than 11,800,000 people are dependent in a great part on the Canadian forests—for that is the approximate population of Canada.

The Death Penalty

A Canadian member of Parliament has urged in the House of Commons that the death penalty be abolished in the case of persons who are only 18 years old or less. His argument is based upon the wave of horror which swept Canada when, recently, an 18-year-old boy was sentenced to death in Quebec.

If Canada is going to reopen the question of capital punishment it would be infinitely more profitable to consider its total abolition rather than its abolition in the case of certan classes of offenders.

As a matter of fact, this member seems to miss the point rather seriously when he bases his contention on the fact that the feelings of the general public were outraged by the particular sentence to which he refers. The feelings of the public have nothing to do with it at all and men's lives cannot be allowed to hang upon the sentimental whims of sensitive people.

The point is that capital punishment is either right or wrong. If it is wrong, it is just as wrong in the case of an adult as in the case of a child.

Proponents of the death penalty, at one time or another, have attempted to justify it by one of three arguments:

1. That it is a legitimate process of social vengeance. 2. That it is the only means of protecting society from desperate men who otherwise would destroy society. 3. That it deters others from capital offences.

The vengeance theory in law has been abandoned as a barbarity. There is a falling away from the protective theory because surgery and psychiatry have worked wonders in purging violence out of dangerous men.

This leaves only the deterrent theory and there are only two things to be said about it;

First, that it is a dreadful piece of savagery to make one man suffer for the potential sins of others and, secondly, that capital punishment definitely does not deter others from murder. The American states that have a death penalty have quite as high a murder rate pro rata as those which have not.

Thus, the case for capital punishment seems to have completely disappeared. Why should this member not go the whole way, then, and urge its utter abolition?

New Settlers

Generally speaking, it will be found that the spokesmen for the C.C.F. are the most active opponents of any plan to bring new settlers into Canada. That is very generally known.

Yet, even the C.C.F. will have to admit that Saskatchewan could use a few thousand more industrious workers, if only to build Mr. Douglas' factories to distill wheat into whiskey and anti-freeze.

Fortunately, there is one group of industrious labour in Canada which Saskatchewan can obtain and obtain very readily.

In B.C., public opinion is very bitter against any suggestion that the Japanese should be permitted to settle themselves in that province. The only advocates of allowing them to do this are to be found among the C.C.F.

Now that Saskatchewan has a C.C.F. Government, it would seem only neighbourly for Mr. Douglas to offer to let the C.C.F. in B.C. out of its struggles by taking all the Japanese into Saskatchewan and settling them there. That is a very simple project and one which would receive the most whole hearted support from everyone in eight other provinces. It is just a perfect sort of programme for the new C.C.F. Government at Regina.

De Gaulle and His Leadership

Head of Fighting French Has Had Distinguished Career

Charles de Gaulle was born in Lille, in 1890. His father taught philosophy and literature in a Catholic College in Paris.

He entered the military school of Saint-Cyr (the French West Point) and was lieutenant in an infantry regiment commanded by Colonel Petain when the war broke out in 1914.

He was wounded at Dinant (Belgium) in August 1914, then again in Champagne, in March 1915, and a third time at Verdun in March 1916. Picked up by the advancing Germans and taken prisoner, he was cited by General Petain in the following terms:

"Officer known for his high intellectual and moral qualities. On March 2nd, 1916, in the village of Douaumont, after a terrific bombardment, the enemy attacked his battalion from all directions. He led his company in a counter-attack and a fierce hand-to-hand fight; this was the only move which he deemed compatible with military honor. He was gravely wounded in the melee.

Before he was liberated by the armistice in 1918, Captain de Gaulle attempted five times to escape and failed, which of course resulted each time in severe punishment.

Resuming his military career, he taught history at Saint-Cyr, was admitted to the Ecole de Guerre (War College), then became Marshal Petain's aide-de-camp. After commanding a battalion of "Blue Devils", he was sent on several missions to the Near East. In 1932 he became secretary of the Council of National Defence.

In the meantime, he had written several books. After reading one of them, Marshal Petain wrote this prophetic phrase: "Some day France will be grateful and call upon him."

His most important work was translated into English with the title: "The Army of the Future". Everybody knows today that this and other books by de Gaulle contain constructive and far-seeing principles, which might be summarized in the idea of quality becoming more important than quantity in the wars of the future, contrary to what happend in 1914-1918, in regard to masses of men and abundance of material.

The French High Command, however, did not follow his suggestions. The Germans did, however, and recognized him as the leading precursor of mechanized warfare on a modern scale. The Panzer divisions used by Germany in the present war are patterned in almost every detail on the suggestions given by de Gaulle in 1933.

Once more, in a memorandum dated January, 1940, he issued a supreme warning that Germany was increasing at full speed her mechanized forces. The only chance for a victorious resistance was in counter-attacking with similar weapons. Events that followed proved de Gaulle to have been right on every point. When the great offensive struck, de Gaulle led a motorized division in what probably was the only counter-attack on a large scale achieved by the French during that phase of the campaign. It took place on May 17th, 18th and 19th.

De Gaulle was promoted Major General, the youngest in the French army, and this time it was General Weygand who wrote the following citation:

"A chief admirable for his courage and energy. With his division he attacked the bridge head at Abbeville, which was solidly held by the enemy. He broke the German resistance and progressed 14 kilometers through enemy lines, capturing hundreds of prisoners and a considerable amount of materiel."

On June 6th he was called to Paris where Paul Reynaud made him Under-Secretary of War. In that capacity he went twice to London, and met Winston Churchill at G.H.Q. conferences.

It was too late to apply de Gaulle's theories to a reorganization of the army, but he believed that a stubborn defensive was still possible with the forces remaining, could they be removed to French North Africa.

When he heard that Marshal Petain had decided to sue for an armistice, de Gaulle did not hesitate. He left for England and became head of French resistance.

This accord between General de Gaulle and Mr. Churchill which, in effect was the acceptance by Britain of General de Gaulle as a symbol of the will to resist of the French nation; and a testimony of confidence in the invincibility of the British upon the part of de Gaulle, has been described as perhaps the greatest "gentlemen's agreement" in history and an act of faith.

On June 18, 1940, de Gaulle made his historic appeal to Frenchmen throughout the world. It was short, taking not three minutes, but millions of Frenchmen know it by heart today. The text follows:

"To all Frenchmen:

"France has lot a battle!

But France has not lost the war!

A makeshift government may have capitulated giving way to panic, forgetting honor, delivering their country into slavery. Yet nothing is lost!

"Nothing is lost, because this war is a world war. In the free universe immense forces have not yet been brought into play. Some day these forces will crush the enemy. On that day France must be present at the victory. She will then regain her liberty and her greatness.

"That is my goal, my only goal!

"That is why I ask all Frenchmen, wherever they may be, to unite with me in action, in sacrifice and in hope.

"Our country is in danger of death. Let us fight to save it."

Frenchmen heard that call. Within a few months the Free French army had grown to 35,000 and the Free French had more than 700,000 tons of shipping, some 60 vessels of war of all kinds and nearly 200 merchant and fishing vessels on all the seas. Under the Cross of Lorraine which signified "liberation" to Frenchmen nearly half of the French empire rallied before September, 1940, an area over five times the size of France and contaihing almost 50,000,000 persons. From this empire de Gaulle brought great stores of vital raw materials to the Allies and found volunteers for the services.

He signed an agreement with Winston Churchill, whereby his Majesty's government expressed its resolution that after the Allied victory France should be re-established in the integrity of her independence and of her power, and concerning the status of French volunteers fighting alongside with the British. His appeal over the radio, on June 18th, marked the foundation of the French army, with a simple, threefold purpose:

1. To defend the remaining French Empire;

2. To liberate France;

3. To restore French civil rights and liberties.

Children Anxious to Grow Up

The 'Teen Ages Don't Need Dictators But Counselors And Friends

By MARY ALICE QUAYNE

As boys and girls always have been, today's youngsters are impatient to grow up, to be in on the world's work. It is a normal mood of youth, heightened in wartime when a boy may be old enough to fight and die for his country but not old enough to vote.

We hear a great deal about the waywardness of the young, yet they have as many champions as they have critics. In the recent issue of Parent Education Bulletin of Toronto University's Institute of Child Study, Dr. Karl S. Bernhardt breaks a lance in their defense. He suggests that the first step in dealing with youthful dissatisfactions is to understand them; he reminds us that the young want to be accepted, to feel that they belong, that they want the feeling of accomplishments. They want to be and to feel important, and older adolescents want to be independent—to be thought of as grownups and not treated as children.

This may seem to parents to be a large order, but Dr. Bernhardt thinks something can be done about it. He says the feeling of "belonging" begins at home, in feeling "emotionally secure" there, in feeling that "there is an abiding permanent affection which is not touched by anything he (the child) may do.

Allied to the sense of security is the need of children to feel sure of themselves among thir peers. Get beneath the bluster and defiance with which the 'teen ages cover up, he says, and you will find the inferiority feelings which seem to be the common lot of adolescence. He reminds parents that 'teen ages suffer agonies if they don't wear the same kind of clothes, use the same kind of language, stay out as late as the rest of their "gang". These are the very places where parents draw the line, and yet this conformity is a part of growing up.

Need Counselors

A sense of accomplishment is harder for 'teens to come by—it has been left for our time, as another observer of family life has said, to treat individual ages of 14 and 25 as if they were children. Yet Dr. Bernhardt thinks that "there is more room in school and home for the self-chosen task so that boys and girls may learn the thrills that come for achieving something they want to achieve."

He finds nothing contributing quite so much to youthful dissatisfactions as the feeling of being left out of important happenings. He quotes those admonitions to children which we all heard in our time, "You're not old enough yet," and "Wait a few years." Then he adds: "But there is much they can do and much that can be done to make them feel that they are important in the war effort and important in other ways too."

What they ned now, he says, are not dictators but conselors and friends.

Speaking of dictators, it is a great deal easier to bring up children to toe the mark than to bring them up to think for themselves, to make their own choices and still conform to some sort of acceptable conduct—to say "please" and "thank you" and to keep elbows off the table. Yet toeing the mark is most often in mind when people talk of "stricter discipline" for children. One trouble with the term lies in the idea that discpline is a thing to be administered quickly and in one dose.

Children do need order in their lives; they need direction and prohibition, yet the word discipline is a dangerous one, a word emotionally charged for each of us, to a different degree, according to the way we were brought up. If it is to be a harsh and narrowing kind of thing which stamps the very life out of a child of one age, assuming that he will always thereafter do as he is told, then let us find another word for the process which is concerned with growing and learning.

It may be convenient to prevent a child from asking questions when he is 4 years old; it may be very tragic if he cannot or will not ask questions at 40.

Question of Pets

Ownership of pets—whether a dog, a cat, white mice, rabbits or song birds—is one of the great joys of childhood.

Parents always want to know at what age a child should have a dog, particularly whether they should wait until the child can take care of a pet.

One authority says that the age at which a child can take some responsibility for a dog varies, according to the child and the home environment. In very general terms it is around the age of 6 or 7 when a child begins to be well aware of the time of day and can recognize that 5 o'clock is the dog's feeding time. Even at an earlier age they can put the dish of food on the floor, and see that the dog has some fresh drinking water.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Wallace Trip Shows China Allied Problem Number One

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON.— Vice-President Wallace is too discreet to say much about the seamy side of his mission to China, but inside word, both from diplomatic reports and from those who accompanied him, indicates that China continues to be Allied Problem No. 1, much tougher than the American public realizes.

Drew Pearson

To understand China, it is necessary to remember the following things. Millions of its people have never heard of its President, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek. Many Chinese consider Madame Chiang an American upstart because she was educated in this country. The people of North China have to use pidgin English to converse with the people of South China. Chiang Kai-Shek's first wife was Japanese, and his son was educated in Germany. Finally, you are dealing with an age-old civilization. It moves with the serenity of centuries. To it, this war is just another of many hundreds.

Remembering all this, here are some of the unpleasant but inescapable facts which Wallace (and the rest of us) have to face about China sympathetically.

Strictest censorship in the world exists in China. U.S. newsmen are virtual prisoners. Chinese guards with bayonets pace in front of their offices—ostensibly to protect them from any anti-foreign demonstration; acutally to see who comes and goes, and to remind the newsmen constantly that they are under guard. The New York Times' correspondent Brooks Atkinson, most respected of newsmen, has kept careful notes on everything happening during the past couple of years, is returning home soon. If the N.Y. Times lets him print his diary, it will blow the lid off.

U.S. relations with China before the Wallace visit were bad. They were super bad. . . . U.S. Ambassador Clarence Gauss, a conscientious diplomat, for a long time was not received by the Generalissimo. Chiang was always too busy. . . . When the N.Y. Times wanted an interview with Chiang, they were told he would be busy all summer.

Palace politics are carried on with bitter intensity, with Chiang in the middle and with control of China at stake. The war lords around Chiang jockey constantly for control. . . . They are not interested in Western civilization. Western politics—only in Western weapons. They don't like Madame Chiang because she is too pro-American. . . . For a time, China was run by the students who had studied in the U.S.A. as a result of the Boxer indemnity educational fund. . . . That was when U.S.-Chinese friendship was at its peak. But now, the East is winning over the West, and the war lords are reverting China to type.

Madame Chiang is having hard sledding. One of her great difficulties is that she is childless. As long as she bears the Generalissimo no progeny, popular sentiment is with the Generalissimo when he goes to another wife. . . . Madame Chiang is his third wife and, for a time Chiang went back to No. 2. That was one reason she came to the U.S.A. . . . Now there is talk of a 16-year-old girl in the summer palace, the niece of a war lord who wants to get Chiang away from Madame Chiang and her American ideas.

American munitions were for a time the chief weapon of Madame Chiang. Through her friendship in Washington, it was expected she could deliver the goods . . . So the war lords tolerated her . . . For a while she did deliver. Then we woke up to the fact that U.S. weapons were being used not against the Japs, but against the Chinese army doing most of the fighting against the Japs . . . This is the so-called Communist Army in new China. Chiang calls them Communists because he doesn't like them. Actually they have a well-knit fighting force of over a quarter million and for a time really fought Japan. Then they had to stop fighting Japs and protect themselves from Chiang's own war lords, armed with U.S. guns . . . Wiser, we now send no more guns but instead, ladies' perfume and silk stockings for the war lords' concubines.

Not nice, but true is that Chinese war lords are getting concerned over Allied victories in the Pacific. The war is getting close to them. . . . Many war lords, educated at Japan's West Point, would prefer first to fight the Russians, second the British, third the U.S.A., least of all the Japs . . . When Wendell Willkie was in China, he had difficulty getting to the war front. Finally, he told the Generalissimo that he had visited the war fronts in North Africa and Russia, insisted on seeing the Chinese front. So the Generalissimo put him on his famous private train, the Blue Express, sent him to the front. Last lap of the trip was on a little hand car . . . He was greeted with thousands of little paper American flags which Chinese troops got from nowhere. On the Jap side was a big sign, "Welcome, Willkie" . . . Both sides had hung their laundry out. There wasn't much fighting . . .

But now the U.S. Navy edges closer, closer to Chinese shores. The Japs may retreat to China, make it their last-stand battleground. The war lords don't like the prospect.

The real people of China can do a great job of fighting—when they are fed. Under the war lords, Chinese troops are never fed, must forage and loot for themselves. When organized and fed, the Chinese can go to town. General Claire Chennault has done the best job of organizing them. Actually the war lords are no more representative of the real people of China than Madam Chiang is. Both represent opposite poles—one the medieval East, the other the modern West. Chief problem of the U.S.A. is to reach the real people of China. They are great people when you can get to them, but the system under which they live takes great patience, sympathy and understanding.

Wallace got down to the soil in China and Siberia. During a day's layover in a Siberian town, he helped Russian farmers in their gardens. Later, in China he did the same for Chinese farmers. Intensive Chinese cultivation fascinated him. Not an inch was wasted. Wallace took with him three motion pictures on wartime farming in the Corn Belt, cattle raising and agricultural planning. Also, he took 36 agricultural year books for the Chinese Department of Agriculture, a large sack of detasselled corn, an English typewriter, a Russian (typewriter, 24 bottles of vitamin tablets, radio-active luminous sketches of Stalin, Chiang Kai-shek and Madame Chiang, several fountain pen sets and wrist watches. In Siberia, Wallace made three speeches in Russian. In China, he fell back on plain English.

Bank

ST. THOMAS TIMES-JOURNAL.

A bankrupt bank in Michigan is reviving by transfusion of oil which is restoring it to healthy life. The bank is a private institution at the small community of Sterling and was the only service of its kind for 350 people. Less than six years ago the bank closed its doors and some customers were in despair. Two of them committed suicide. The liabilities were $160,000, and the cashier, Joseph Martin, figured that the assets might provide 15 cents on the dollar.

Among the assets was a farm in which the bank had, only a one-eighth interest. Two years ago a man rented the farm and got an idea there was oil on the land. He began drilling, and recently oil began to spout. News reached the people of Sterling and they gazed pop-eyed on the scene. They cried for joy. State police had to be called to hold back the excited spectators. The new well is considered one of the best in Michigan, and even the one-eighth interest is bringing money in so fast that the bank will be able to pay all depositors in full.

The War Problem of the Pigeons

By CHESTER A. BLOOM

The information editor of a Minneapolis newspaper remarked in a recent column that the day could produce anything which started with a lady calling on the telephone to ask:

"Please, how can I tell whether my turtle is dead."

These zoological questions are among the chief hazards, too, of the Canadian War Information Board in Washington.

In the Minneapolis case, it was very disappointing that the editor failed to describe his undoubtedly anguished efforts to get the information for the lady turtle proprietor. Personally, nothing would interest us more than how to ascertain whether a turtle has actually kicked the bucket or is merely acting sullen by pulling himself into his shell or carapace and lying doggo. Many others must like to know.

There used to be an old-fashioned method of starting up a mule who got into such a mood by building a small smudge or bonfire under his middle section but I doubt it would work with a turtle; his chassis is built too low.

J. Hugh Campbell, the former Winnipegger now in charge of the Washington Bureau of the Canadian War Information Board, recently had to deal with one of these zoological, or rather ornithological questions of a little different type. The WIB Washington Bureau rather prides itself on the ability of its staff to answer off-hand the peculiar questions asked by trembling Americans about to launch themselves in the Canadian wilds.

Several Canadian newspaper men were sitting about the office discussing the recent Saskatchewan revolution when the telephone rang. The expression on Mr. Campbell's face showed for once he was taken aback. He covered the mouthpiece with his hand and asked in a stage whisper:

"Does anyone here know how a pigeon can get into Canada?"

"Is the pigeon going to walk or fly into Canada?" inquired one correspondent.

"Has he got a border crossing card?" queried another.

"He should pay his income tax right up to date," suggested a third.

The exasperated bureau chief asked the lady whether there was just one pigeon going to visit Canada or a whole flock and how.

The lady explained there were a mamma and papa pigeon in a cage, her young son's pets. Mr. Campbell said he would investigate, took the lady's number, and would call her back.

Then the search began. He called both the U.S. agricultural department and the Canadian embassy's trade expert. Both gentlemen reported back that there was nothing in their books about pigeons.

"I find," said the Canadian expert, "that if you are taking a bull into Canada, you have to have a health certificate for him but I can't find where it says anything about pigeons visiting in Canada. How many pigeons are going? If this is a pigeon invasion, it might make a difference."

Informed that only two pigeons were booked for the tour in a cage, he said: "Why not take a chance?"

Mr. Campbell passed this information on to the lady with some difficulty. He said he thought most customs officials of Canada would pass the pigeons O.K. Occasionally one met a customs officer who had missed his breakfast or was perhaps allergic to pigeons but probably he could be talked out of such an anti-pigeon complex.

"I think," added Mr. Campbell to his interested audience at the end of his phone talk, "that the pigeons will get into Canada all right if they keep quiet and don't start a family fight in that cage. But I wouldn't bet they will."

LEEDS YORKSHIRE POST.

They were discussing the second front in a Leeds shop yesterday.

A young Canadian airman came in. Clearly he was anxious, despite the reports of good progress from across the Channel.

"Where," he said earnestly, "can I get my pants creased for tonight?"

ATHABASCA—The annual deanery of the women's auxiliary of the Anglican church was held at All Saints church here, on July 3. About 75 women attended from Grassland, Boyle, Plum Lake, Colinton, Parkhurst and South Athabasca. The Rev. Ramsay Armitage of Toronto was guest speaker. Banquet Is Held At Grande Prairie

GRANDE PRAIRNE—A banquet was held in honor of F. Bower, executive commissioner of the Boy Scouts for Alberta, who was a recent visitor here. Scouts, Cubs and members of the executive of the Kinsmen Club were present. The Kinsmen have agreed to sponsor the Scouts for this district. Mr. Bower showed some slides of Scout work throughout Canada.

Later he attended a meeting of group representatives of Scouts held at Beaverlodge to form a local association. Scout leaders from Sturgeon Lake to Fort St. John were present.

H. Melsness, Grande Prairie, was elected president of the newly-formed association; Mr. Gillis of Dawson Creek, vice-president, and the Rev. A. Lord, Grande Prarie, secretary. The Rev. T. L. Jackson of Beaverlodge, was recommended for appointment as commissioner of this district.

The local association will supervise and encourage the Boy Scout troops in this area. It hopes to be able to organize district camps on a larger scale than was possible with the smaller units.

A Community Life camp for the Grande Prairie and Beaverlodge districts was held at Lake Saskatoon from June 28 to July 2, under the direction of the department of extension.

Members registered from Donnelly to Fort St. John, B.C. Many were in residence at the camp, others living near enough came for the evening session.

The staff included the Rev. Leon Kofod, of Long Island, New York, traveller and authority on the Co-Operative movement. Mr. Kofod had a large collection of films in technicolor. Andrew Stewart, professor in agricultural economics, gave lectures on "Rural Eelectrification," "Can a Canadian Farmer Receive Parity Prices?" and similar topics.

Miss Helen Moseson, home economist, Alberta department of agriculture, led the women's discussions.

NO. 4 CASUALTY CLEARING STATION and 13th FIELD HYGIENE SECTION

In preparation for Bren gun tests to be held at Winterburn these two units were given extensive instruction at the parade held last week. As it is less than a month before the camp period it is desirous that all members of the units attend every parade during this month, and we would be pleased to receive any new members who would be interested in attending camp.

It is with extreme pleasure that we learn of the promotion of Acting Surgeon Lt.-Cmdr. E. H. Watts from the rank of Surgeon-Lieutenant. Acting Surgeon Lt.-Cmdr. E. H. Watts was O.C. of the above two units from 1941 to Dec. 1943, at which time he joined the Canadian Navy. Our best wishes go to him for his success in his future activities.

61st (R) FIELD BATTERY, R.C.A.

The Battery had a call from Colonel E. R. Knight, V.D., Calgary, officer commanding the 41st Reserve Brigade Group. Colonel Knight went over the training with Capt. George Conquest of Westglen High School, who is the officer commanding the Battery, and expressed his satisfaction with the program as it is being carried out.

On Wednesday evening Lt. Roy Buckham of Taylor and Pearson, continued small arms training of the recruits on the indoor range with very satisfactory results.

2nd (R) BATTALION THE LOYAL EDMONTON REGT.

Promotion of Cpls. A. G. Hamilton of No. 2 Administrative Platoon and L. J. Colborne of No. 3 Mortar Platoon to the rank of Sergeant has been announced. Sgt. Hamilton is an employee of the provincial government and has been in the unit since March 1942. Sgt. Colborne is also employed by the provincial government and enlisted in March 1943. Both have worked conscientiously in the interests of the Battalion from the time of their enlistment and the promotions are considered well deserved.

The Carrier Platoon made the trip to Ross Creek last Tuesday night and put on a carrier demonstration for No. 15 Platoon. The weather was very unfavorable, but the chief complaint was the prevalence of mosquitoes. These insects were out in full force performing dive bombing tactics on the carrier crews. While at Ross Creek, one of the carriers threw a track, which gave the crews a golden opportunity in repair and maintenace work.

NO. 1 (R) ARMOURED DIVISION ORDNANCE WORKSHOP

CSM. L. M. Norman, of the Workshop A and T Staff, is conducting a special training schedule at Ponoka where the Workshop Support Group is localized. The course includes a number of tactical schemes in addition to advanced military training.

An official inspection of No. 44 Light Aid Detachment and the Workshop Recovery Section at Westlock was made this week-end by Capt. Charles E. Garnett, officer commanding the unit, who was accompanied by members of the administrative and training staff who conducted a full day of intensive field training. Recent alterations to the Westlock Armories have made possible the storage of training equipment at that centre.

Examinations in oxy-acetylene welding of students who recently completed the course, were held over the past two weeks. Results will be announced within the next few days.

A total of 33 candidates will undergo the tests.

The final results of the Dominion of Canada Rifle Competition—held in Jan., Feb. and March, have now been announced. A team from this unit was composed of: Capt. R. L. Barnes, Lt. W. A. Plowman, Sgt. Stc. Jeffrey, Sgt. A. J. Crockett, Cpl. A. M. Browning. Their total score in the competition was 1392 points. This score is the highest made by any team from the Reserve units in Alberta.

Annual camp at Sarcee will be held July 23 to Aug. 6. A good number of men from this unit have made their arrangements to attend. An interesting syllabus in advanced Army Service Corps training has been set up. Much of this is of a practical nature, such as setting up and actual operation of ammunition supply points, petrol supply points, ration supply dumps. In fact the whole training will be under actual field conditions.

Hold Little Hope Any of Trapped Miners Are Alive

BELLAIRE, O., July 10—(AP)—drillers yesterday broke into the tunnel where 66 coal miners were imprisoned 400 feet underground by fire last Wednesday, but hope of finding any of the men alive virtually vanished when only echoes answered calls down the nine-inch vent over a surface amplifier.

A smaller, three-inch drill about 1,200 feet away continued to punch toward another spot in Ohio's largest mine at nearby Powhatan where fellow workers hoped the trapped men had erected barricades against smoke and fumes of the underground inferno, behind which they might live several days. The second bore was expected to be completed Monday noon.

"FIGHTING GASOLINE"

THERE are three basic reasons why a real and critical shortage of gasoline exists in Canada today:

(1) The insatiable demands of modern war.
(2) The inadequacy of existing supply for both military and civilian needs and the difficulty of discovering and developing new sources of supply—in time.
(3) The grave shortage of oil transportation facilities.

Petroleum needs of the forces in this war are 80 times greater than in the last war. It is four or five times as difficult and costly to find new oil reserves today as it was in the pre-war period. And supplies have to be shipped vast distances, in ocean tankers compelled to travel slowly in convoy and by circuitous routes.

Look at this map. It shows how the oil resources of this hemisphere must be poured out across dangerous seas, to battle areas 4,000, 5,000, 6,000, 7,000 miles away. It shows how oil fields as far away as Colombia, Ecuador, and Peru are being pressed into service to satisfy demand. As much as 67 per cent. of the total tonnage of overseas shipping for war consists of petroleum products—more than twice the tonnage of all the men, food, planes, guns, tanks, ammunition and all such material combined!

Canada's gasoline needs add but an extra burden. We, in this country, produce only 15 per cent. of our own petroleum supplies. The rest must be shipped here from abroad. It must be taken from the common pool of the United Nations. More than 60 per cent. of it must be delivered by ocean-going tankers. Ships and men—needed to serve the fighting areas—must be risked to provide our home front gasoline.

Your ration of gasoline is an "issue" of ammunition—entrusted to you to help keep vital civilian transportation rolling. To squander it thoughtlessly, needlessly, frivolously, is to rob our fighting men.

LESS CIVILIAN GAS MEANS MORE "FIGHTING GAS" FOR THE FORCES

NO. 2 OF A SERIES OF ANNOUNCEMENTS ISSUED BY THE DEPARTMENT OF MUNITIONS AND SUPPLY, HONOURABLE C. D. HOWE, MINISTER

Answering YOUR QUESTIONS about the GASOLINE SHORTAGE

How many miles a year are travelled by tankers bringing petroleum to Canada? . . . Over 2,000,000 miles. How much longer does it take a tanker to make each trip under today's war conditions? . . . Double the time—because of submarines and more circuitous routes. Why do we speak of vast distances? . . . Because a delivery of gasoline or fuel oil to the Pacific war zone 7,000 miles away requires a return trip of 7,000 miles for the next load. How long does it take to build a new tanker? . . . Up to eight months, depending on size.

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW by Hal Dean
SPORTS EDITOR

BLAZING the trail to the victory column for the Arrows at Renfrew yesterday, Bill Gauf was on top of the opposing batters all the way. That was the Fort Saskatchewan chucker's second full game and he looked good. Bill lost his other start on June 25, but he had done a couple of fire jobs and in the 5 2-3 innings gave up one earned run and five hits.

Fred Lupul made an auspicious start as boss man for the Arrows. The boys turned in their best fielding performance of the year and did some heavy stick work too, with Bob Reid clubbing out four singles in six trips. Bill Welch had three for four and Ed Gauf's single in the second drove in their first pair of runs.

Arrows lead the league in double plays with 10, while Dodgers and Yanks have made six twin killings and Signals five so far this season. Lupul nailed up a new high by being "hittee" for three of the four hit-by-pitcher efforts of Walter Johnson. Ab Superstein of the Dodgers added another to his list and now has a grand total of six.

Frank Wrigglesworth had four putouts and a pair of assists. His catch of Harry Jones' fly back of first near the foul line in the fifth was a honey and the play he made on Ed Gauf's for the second out in the same inning was almost as good. Eddie Williams snared Bill Gauf's foul close to the fence in the ninth. The Arrow pitcher fielded well, having five assists and a putout and he cheated Ralph Morgan out of a hit in the opening session, retiring him at first.

HENRY AFTER 10TH TITLE

WITH three of the five hurdles on the road to his tenth city golf title already negotiated, Henry Martell is out in the fours and will meet Johnny Letke, Country Club, in the top half of the draw. John Loucks and Bill Broadfoot, both of Mayfair, will fight it out for the final berth from the lower bracket. Henry shot his three under par 68 in the rain Saturday.

In the battle of the secretaries, Bill Broadfoot, secretary Alberta Golf Association staged quite a recovery to oust Reg (Pep) Moon, secretary Edmonton Association. Down three at the halfway mark and still in arrears two at the 15th, Bill picked up one on the 16th when Pep hit into the gully. Both had good drives on the 17th and fair woods on seconds, but Bill wound up with five to his opponent's six and they were all-square going into the 18th.

Broadfoot drove into the ravine, but got out onto the green without any trouble, 40 feet from the cup. Pep hit the the edge of the planted trees and elected to play another ball which worked out better, but he finally decided to play his first—Bill finished one up.

HERE AND THERE

JOHN DUCEY is returning to the baseball wars and will "arbite" along with Bob Coxford at tonight's senior session between Yanks and U.S. Signals. Dick Speer, who has officiated in several games left for the far north on Saturday and expects to be away for at least a year with Imperial Oil at Fort Norman.

Signals may be without Bob Sawyer for a while after tonight's joust with Yanks, as it is rumored the league's leading hitter (.455 from 20 for 44) is going on furlough. Capt. Harry Baldwin was not with Dodgers yesterday, having been called home due to serious illness of his mother. Harry is a good ball player in addition to being a swell fellow.

Having exhausted temporarily at least, the visible supply of prospective dates, No. 4 I.T.S. soccer team is out in the open market looking for more games. Spiked by four R.A.F. players, the I.T.S. eleven has issued a challenge to the world. Interested parties may secure confirmation of the defy by contacting Sgt. Woods, No. 4 Squadron officer, or Cpl. J. G. Davies.

Henry Martell Low Qualifier With Three-Under-Par 68

Semi-Finals Reached in City Golf Event

Red Deer Clubs Suffer Defeats To Currie Teams

RED DEER, Alta., July 10—The A-20 Army Service Corps training centre suffered a double setback Sunday afternoon when the C.W.A.C. team from Currie Barracks ended up on the long end of a 17-16 score, while their male counterparts from A-16 were fashioning a neat 4-0 victory over A-20's classy fastballers.

Literally fighting for their lives as far the the central division of the Alberta Men's Fastball League is concerned the A-16 team hit Pfeiffer for four hard line drives in the opening half of the first frame.

Producing four runs by Whittaker, Jackson, Lane, and Dawkins the A-16 team was never in trouble. Schiedel pitched steady, one hit ball for the visitors allowing only five scattered walks.

The game was featured by Whittaker's cracking homer in the opening frame and two brilliant double plays in the fourth and seventh by the A-20 boys. The Red Deer outfit came up with their usual airtight fielding but seemed to be completely off when it came to hitting, being held hitless until the seventh when Pegoraro collected their only hit of the game. The A-16 infantrymen added color to the affair with their constant stream of rapid fire chatter during their turns in the field.

Score by innings:

A-20	000 000 000—0	1	0

Next Round To Be Played On Saturday

By DON KILLIPS

DEFENDING champion Henry Martell from the Highlands gave old man par a going over on Saturday at the Edmonton Golf and Country Club and yesterday advanced into the semi-finals of the city amateur golf tournament to cover the first lap in retaining the title he has possessed for nine years.

Playing in a near down pour On Saturday night from the tee off, Henry was really hot in the qualifying round and shot a blistering 68 over the par 71 course to show the way to some 53 linksmen.

The other three with Martell in the semi-finals are Johnny Letke of Country Club, John Loucks and Bill Broadfoot, both of Mayfair, all of whom came through to turn in some neat golfing and win in the first and second rounds.

The other two golfing Maretlls, Burns and Emil, were also right in there at the head of the list of qualifiers for the championship flight, but both were beaten in match play yesterday.

SCHARFE BEATEN

Burns turned back C. A. "Skiff" Scharfe, Municipal champ, in the first round of the flight, but met with disaster on the 18th when playing Johnny Letke in the second round. Burns stood a chance to tie Letke on the last green, but missed a four foot putt and lost out.

Emil Martell handed Jack Davidson a defeat, but found Johnny Loucks of Mayfair too tough and bowed to him four and three.

Burns and Emil Martell along with Ingy Cameron registered 76's on Saturday, the runnerup spot in the qualifying trip going to Cameron who shot 13 pars compared to 12 by each of the Martells. Ingy lost out in the first round of match play Sunday morning, however, when beaten by Bill Broadfoot.

PUTTING WAS GOOD

The defending champ, playing with Vern Mohs of Municipal who was rated as a possible threat to dethrone Henry, and Bill Broadfoot of Mayfair, sported an umbrella around the course on Saturday and in spite of taking his share of the rain, came through on top as expected. He was hitting the ball hard and his putting was exceptionally good, especially on the 16th when he sank a 10-footer to make the hole in four, one under par. Henry bettered par on four holes, the third, sixth, 16th and 17th and was only over on the first green. He played on even terms for the other 13.

Among the top 16 qualifiers for the championship flight were A. J. "Red" Hopps with a 77, Reg. "Pep" Moon and Johnny Letke with 78 each and Helmuth Goertz with a 79.

The first 16 of the round all of whom had an 84 or better entered the championship flight while the next 16 went into the first flight and the third 16 qualified for the second flight. All events reached the semi-finals yesterday and will be finished next week-end.

Henry Martell eliminated Charlie Richards on the 17th hole of the first round of the championship flight and then defeated Vern Mohs, who had won over Red Hopps, four and three to reach the semi-finals.

Martell will meet Letke in one semi-final on Saturday and Loucks will take on Broadfoot in the other. Broadfoot entered the semi-final stage by overcoming Pep Moon and finishing one up on the 18th.

OTHER FLIGHTS

Heading the first flight are Jack Mather, W. Ewenson, Sr., Andy Eagle and Jack Meldrum who occupy the four semi-final berths. Mather defeated Ralph Jones and A. J. Munro in the first and second rounds respectively while Ewenson turned back Ivor Williams and Percy Daigle. Mather and Ewenson clash next Saturday.

Eagle beat Cal Keys and B. A. Radford to reach the semi-finals and Meldrum won from Alf Molyneaux and W. Townsend.

George Hutton, Jock Smythe, Tom Nuttall and Bud Loftus all entered the semi-finals in the second flight.

13 Hits Off Johnson

Bill Gauf Pitches Arrows To 6-2 Win Over Dodgers

BACKING up the four-hit pitching of Bill Gauf, Arrows blasted 13 safeties off Walter Johnson to defeat the Dodgers 6-2 in Sunday afternoon's Senior Baseball League fixture at Renfrew Park, and are now only two games behind the third-place Yanks.

In leading the Arrows back to the win path after they had absorbed six successive reverses, Gauf had the circuit leaders tied up tight for most of the day. All four safe blows he permitted came in separate innings and it was only in the first and eighth that he was in any real difficulty. He was accorded excellent support all the way.

It was Johnson's first appearance for the Dodgers since June 19, a finger injury having kept him out of the game. He hit four batters, Fred Lupul being a victim on three occasions. Arrows got to Walter for a quartet of hits and three runs in the seventh and they garnered eight in the last three frames.

FOUR HITS TO REID

Bob Reid, who checked in with four hits out of six trips, opened the afternoon's proceedings with a drive into right field. Harry Jones attempted a bunt and Johnson's throw to second for a force-out was high and both runners were safe. Ken Samis bunted, advancing his team-mates, but Jack McGill struck out and Ed Gauf grounded out, Stevenson to Ottem.

Dodgers picked up their initial counter in their half of that session. Ab Superstein was hit by Gauf and Dick Noon singled. Dave Brockie grounded out to Ed Gauf who threw to second to force Noon, but Jones hit Noon with the ball in attempting a throw to first for a double and Superstein raced home with a run.

Ralph Morgan grounded out, pitcher to first, and Doug Stevenson hit to Reid forcing Brockie.

DODGERS IN EIGHTH

From then on, Gauf kept things under control. Stevenson singled off Reid's glove in the fourth and Superstein slapped the ball into centre in the fifth. But in the eighth, Frank Wrigglesworth walked, stole second and sauntered home on Dick Noon's drive to centre for the Dodger's second run.

Reid started off Arrows with a single to left field in the third heat. Jones was hit by Johnson and Samis got a scratch single to short, filling the bases. McGill fouled out to Stevenson, but Ed Gauf came through sending in Reid and Jones and Welch hit to right field scoring Samis. Lupul was hit too, but Maskiwich grounded out.

THREE MORE FOR ARROWS

Samis and McGill both hit in the seventh, but no damage resulted. Wrigglesworth made two neat putouts in this inning, getting both Jones and Ed Gauf on difficult plays.

An error at first which gave Maskiwich a life, a walk to Bill Gauf, and hits by Reid, Jones and McGill gave Arrows three more markers in the eighth.

Welch doubled in the ninth, but was caught at the plate after Reid hit safely for the fourth time to right field. Lupul was hit by Johnson in this inning for the third time.

Byron Nelson, Jug McSpaden Win Golf Title

MINNEAPOLIS, July 10.—(AP)—Byron Nelson and Jug McSpaden, never behind in team scoring in 126 holes of play, yesterday won the Golden Valley golf championship with a three-point margin over the second place twosome of Bill Kaiser and Bob Hamilton.

Nelson and McSpaden, rivals for the 1944 champion of champions title, teamed up perfectly to win the four-ball match play crown with a best ball scoring average of 63.8 for the seven round marathon, the season's longest tournament.

They totalled a remarkable 447, 64 strokes under the course's 37-36—73 par.

On Saturday an all-times best-ball Professional Golf Association team record of 31-28—59 was set by the twin cities pair of Les Bolstad and Joe Coria as they defeated the Chick Harbert-Mike Turnesa combine seven up in the fourth round of the tournament.

The phenomenal 59 strung together with 12 birdies and one eagle represented 14 strokes under the 37-36—73 Golden Valley par, and discarded the previous all-time par breaking record of 61 established by Jug McSpaden and Byron Nelson in the tournament's first round.

Coria, 130-pound St. Paul pro, accounted for the team's eagle on the first hole by sinking a 30-foot putt for a three, with the exception of that feat the honors were well divided, both partners scoring six birdies apiece.

In the Leicestershire Hunt Steeplechase of 1936, one more horse finished the course than had started. O woman astride her favorite hunter and watching the race from the distance, became excited on seeing her husband's mount leading. Mort Cooper and Brecheen Hurl Cards to Twin Victory

ST. LOUIS, July 10.—(AP)—The National League-leading St. Louis Cardinals finally climbed above the .500 mark in their season's series with the Boston Braves yesterday as Morton Cooper and Harry Brecheen pitched them to a double white wash vistory, 1-0 and 9-0.

The two triumphs gave the league leaders a record of six victories and five defeats with the Braves this year.

Cooper had to get along without the batting support he is accustomed to as Jim Tobin limited the Cards to four hits. But he didn't need it. A double by Stan Musial and a single by Walker Cooper in the sixth produced the game's only run.

Big Mort allowed only five hits and was never in trouble. He struck out six and walked three in winning his eighth straight game, his 10th of the season, and his fourth shutout.

In the nightcap, Brecheen, whose pitching average of seven and one leads the loop's hurlers, coasted to victory on perfect control and his mates battered starter A. Javery and relief man Armand Cadoni for 13 safeties, four of them for extra bases.

PITTSBURGH WHIPS DODGERS

PITTSBURGH, July 10.—(AP)—Pittsburgh Pirates clung to second place in the National League by a narrow margin yesterday as they downed the Brooklyn Dodgers 10-1 in the first game and were leading 5-7 when the nightcap was called at the end of the eighth to comply with the Sunday baseball curfew.

Preacher Roe had an easy time with the Dodgers in the opener, allowing only eight well-scattered hits, while the Bucs landed on Ed Head and Rube Melton for a total of 13.

CHICAGO, July 10.—(AP)—The Cubs swept a National League double header from the New York Giants before 38,434 yesterday, with Claude Passeau shading Bill Voiselle with a three-hit shutout 1-0, in the nightcap after Bob Chapman southpawed his way to his fourth straight win 6-2 in the opener.

Andy Pafko's infield single with the bases loaded and two out in the sixth inning gave Passeau, who fanned nine, his season's fifth victory.

The defeat was the 10th against 11 victories for Voiselle, who allowed six hits.

TORONTO, July 10 — (CP) — Claiming races have been a bone of contention among members of the racing fraternity, and every once in a while the thing bubbles over on the surface when some owner loses a good animal in a cheap race.

That's what happened in Vancouver the other day when the gelding Commendable was claimed for $800 but the youthful owner Joe Shine at first refused to give him up. He got a bit hot under the collar when he thought of the winter's feed bills and the trouble and expense of training the horse, only to lose him the first time out. But the thing was straightened out eventually, at least to the partial satisfaction of everybody.

It's just the luck of the game these claiming fatalities, but they still hit your small owner hard. The only thing he can do is wait his chance and claim the animal back, but sometimes this method has developed into a none-too-satisfactory feud in which the little fellow generally is hurt.

It must be the heat that started the hockey stew bubbling on the west coast. Ken (Vancouver Province) McConnell reports that Seattle promoters are angling for the entire Vancouver Maple Leafs club for next winter—a nice trick if they can get it. He also suggests that New Westminster, home of the western senior finalist Lodestars, may not be in the picture come ice-time. The fans at home didn't show enough interest all last winter to give the boys much encouragement.

INCIDENTALLY:

In a small scale admittedly, the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association has gone back into competitive sport. The sport organization that used to be a power in many branches of Canadian sport is sponsoring a softball team as a start on the comeback trail . . . Alf (Vancouver Sun) Cottrell tells a story about Mel Lunde, youthful athlete killed on the French beachhead. Mel always was a fatalist, it seems, and when he started overseas he had the idea something would happen. "I won't be coming back from this road trip," he told friends.

Experience Favors Nationals In All-Star Game Tuesday

PITTSBURGH, July 10.—(AP)—Experience favors the National League in the 12th annual all-star baseball game to be played at Forbes Field Tuesday night but the record books give the American a decided 8-3 victory bulge.

Manager Billy Southworth of Ford Frick's circuit has 11 returning veterans who saw service in the 1943 classic while Joe McCarthy can call on eight who had a hand in last year's 5-3 American League triumph in Philadelphia. Included in McCarthy's group is Bobby Doerr of Boston whose 3-run homer told the Philadelphia story.

Almost buried in the enthusiasm over Pittsburgh's first chance to play all-star host is a joint meeting of the major leagues scheduled for the morning of July 11. Such important matters as night ball, farm systems and the future of the office of baseball commissioner are on the agenda.

EXPECT 40,000 FANS

The game is expected to attract approximately 40,000 and contribute more than $100,000 to the sports bat and ball fund for servicemen.

Changes since the original announcement of the all-star squads have added Jim Tobin of Boston to the National roster in place of George Munger of St. Louis who is slated to be inducted into the service the day of the game. George Case of Washington ran into a wall a week ago and Boston's Pete Fox has been subbed in the American outfield contingent.

Southworth hasn't named his starting choice but he has Bucky Walters of Cincinnati who has won 14 to merit selection for the sixth time and Rip Sewell of Pittsburgh, Ken Raffensberger of the Phils and Nate Andrews, Al Javery and Tobin of Boston to back him up.

OUTSTANDING PITCHERS

McCarthy has three hurlers on his nine-man staff who have won more than 10 games in Hank Borowy of New York, Tex Hughson of Boston and Hal Newhouser of Detroit. Dutch Leonard of Washington, who started last year, is back again with Orval Grove of Chicago, Bob Muncrief of St. Louis, Dizzy Trout of Detroit, Bob Newsom of Philadelphia and Rookie Joe Page of New York.

Mel Ott will be the real veteran on the field, playing his 11th game after 1933 opener.

It will be the sixth all-star managerial job for McCarthy and the second for Southworth as the National goes after its first victory since Max West of Boston sealed a 4-0 decision in 1940 with a three-run homer.

Knifong Entries Grab Two As Calgary Races Re-Open

By LOU DAVIES

CALGARY, July 10.—L. R. Knifong, the wild Texan, who scored quite an upset in Winnipeg last week-end when he sent R. James Speers' Gower Mon to the post to win the $5,000 added Canadian Derby from the King's Plate winner, Acara, held the spotlight as the Calgary Stampede opened here by saddling two winners, Hoops My Dear and Frilly.

The pair, the only two which Knifong owns at the present time, were both public choices. Hoops My Dear accounted for the featured Stampede Handicap at about seven furlongs while Frilly won "the Wagon Bocc" a 6½ furlong affair.

Last December Knifong won the same two on one day's card at Bay Meadows. In contrast to Saturday's small payoffs Frilly returned $124.10 to win that afternoon while Hoops My Dear paid $30.70.

Following behind the early pace of Sweep Lad, Hoops My Dear went to the front at will in the Stampede Handicap and won easily by three and one-half lengths. Calla Donna worked her way up to be second by three lengths with Sweep Lad lasting to save shot money.

Broad Camp, which finished second to Uttermost in the rich Winnipeg Futurity, stamped himself as the favorite for the Calgary Juvenile Stakes to be run Thursday when he won the "Stakes Trial" by four lengths. Marbane was second by a head and Wise Joe third.

The Daily Double of Messenger Maid and Abydos paid $35.20 while the Quinella of Edmonton Ball and Winged Lady returned $126.15.

Alberta owners captured five of the seven affairs while Joe Braddish led the riding brigade with two triumphs.

HILLSIDE, N.J., July 10.—Chief Specialist Freddie "Red" Cochrane of the Navy, world welterweight champion, braced his elbows on the bar and said. "If the war ends within a reasonable time, the big name sports guys who went into service will be able to resume operations in big time fashion when peace comes, because most of them are keeping in shape."

Cochrane is one of the big name athletes who has kept in perfect condition despite the vicissitudes of Mars that shuttled him all over the South Pacific through lively combats with the Japanese.

The red headed, square jawed Irish lad, never drinks anything stronger than "sody water" leaned his elbows on the bar of his own cocktail lounge—midway between Jersey cities of Elizabeth and Newark—as he chatted. At 29, he looked surprisingly fit—hard and dynamic.

IN GOOD SHAPE

"I'm in pretty good shape, he admitted with a shy grin." I weigh only 148 poupds. That's just two more than when I entered the Navy. Life in the services keeps a fellow in condition. Of course, I'm not sharp. I'll need three or four tune up bouts, after war—to sharpen up—before I defend the title. Then I'll defend against anybody—against the best fighter who can draw the most money."

It was surprising to hear Red Cochrane talking about money—the medium of exchange that apparently never interested him when he was brand new champion of the world—when he won the title from Fritzie Zivic at Newark on July 29, 1941—when he took himself and his valuable crown into the Navy less than a week later.

Never in modern ring history did a champion in any division make less than this lion-eyed lad who got "peanuts" for winning the 147-pound crown and who garnered less than a total of $15,000 for non title bouts with Lew Jenkins and Fritzie Zivic and charity brawls with Garvey Young and Bobby Britton, while in service.

WANTS BETTER STYLE

COCHRANE, chief bread winner of a family that includes mother, father, two brothers and a sister, was able to buy a pub with his meagre earnings that has kept them in groceries while he has been in the Navy—but it hasn't kept them in the style that Freddie wanted.

"I wish the war would end tomorrow," says champion Fred, "so I could go out and make some real dough—and take my dad from behind the bar. I'm i shape to do it. I've kept 'n shape, just like the other boxers, I've seen in service—like Fred Apostoli Georgia Abrams, A. Nettlow, Tony Martin, Tony Musto, Max Marik, Ken Overlin, Frankie Duane and a lot of others."

Red's manager, Willie Gilzenberg — who worships Cochrane — keeps telling the champ, "Enjoy your leave. As long as I'm around, and I'm still pretty young, neither you nor your family will have to worry about dough.

"I'd rather see you doing what you are, than to be making thousands a month."

Tories Protest Against Federal, C.C.F. Policies

VANCOUVER, July 10.—(CP)—A protest against "the announced policy of the present prime minister and the C.C.F. party which tends to the disruption or weakening of Canada's connection with the Empire" was passed in a resolution at the quarterly executive meeting of the British Columbia Progressive Conservative party here Saturday. The resolution said that present federal policies "indicate a desire or willingness to break from the Empire or even to form a new union with another nation."

Set New Price Levels For Peas

OTTAWA, July 10—(CP)—The Prices board announced last night the establishment of ceiling prices for all kinds, varieties and grades of dry, whole and split peas.

The announcement said a new order fixed uniform ceilings to replace individual sellers' ceilings which in the past varied widely and made it difficult to obtain the supplies required for the domestic market because of prices prevailing in the export market.

"The new price ceilings will ensure growers a return approximately equal to the $3.25 per bushel now obtained for peas exported, f.o.b. seaboard," it added.

The processors' maximum selling price per 98-pound bag, f.o.b. his plant, is fixed at $7 for large yellow (marrowfat type) or freen or blue whole peas, $5.90 for medium yellow or small yellow whole peas, $8.50 for green or blue split peas and $7.40 for yellow split peas. A charge of 10 cents per bag may be added if the processor sells through a broker.

The order is effective today.

Census Shows City's Population Now Totals 108,416

Figures Reveal Increase Of 2,880 Over Last Year: Transient Decrease Small

Edmonton's population is 108,416, according to 1944 census figures released Monday by Thomas Walker, city assessor. This is an increase of 2,880 over the 105,536 population total of 1943.

The total population of the north side of the river is 83,379 compared with 81,722 last year, and on the South Side the 1944 population is 25,037 compared with 23,814 last year. The figures on the United States residents were obtained as recently as Thursday and Friday of last week.

The 1943 census showed a total of 3,795 United States citizens temporarily resident in the city while this year's count gives a total of 2,153, a decline of 1,642. This would mean that there is an increase of 4,522 in the permanent population.

The enumeration includes only persons actually entitled to be counted as residents of the city on the basis of the Dominion government census, and does not include any transient population. The returns received from hotels showed 1,567 transients who have not been included in the count. There are also many other transients located in rooming houses that have not been included.

In his report to the city commissioners Mr. Walker points out that there has been a decided shift in population amongst the various districts, chiefly from the downtown apartment and rooming house area into the outer residential districts and Wartime Housing dwellings.

Of the 39 polling divisions in the city 12 this year show a reduction in population, and 27 increases. The districts showing the largest decreases are Poll 11, Market Square district, 246; Poll 12, Alexander Taylor school 371; Poll 23, between 101 street and 106 street 143; the Glenora district 61, and the Garneau district 55.

The districts having the largest increases are: Poll 8, Parkdale 754; Poll 7, Norwood 337; Victoria High school district 366; North Edmonton 224; South Garneau 237, and Queen Alexandra School district 292.

The census figures show that the population of the west part of the city, taking the Dominion contituency boundaries, is 47,273, and the east end, 61,143. Of the west end population 35,331 is located on the north side of the river and 11,942 on the south. There are 48,048 residents in east Edmonton on the north side of the river, and 13,095 on the south side.

The female population of the city is greater by 4,418 than the male, according to the figures. There are 51,999 males resident in Edmonton, of whom 35,043 are over 21, and 16,956 under that age. There are 56,417 females, of whom 38,087 are over 21, and 18,330 below that age.

On the north side of the river and west of 101 street there are 11,378 males over 21, and 13,679 females. with 4,808 males under 21, and 5,466 females.

OTHER AREAS

East of 101 street on the north side of the river the number of males over 21 was given as 16,016 and the females 15,769. The number of males under 21 was 7,780, compared with 8,483 females.

West of the C.P.R. tracks on the South Side there are 3,745 males and 4,509 females over 21, and 1,766 males and 1,922 females under that age. East of the tracks the number of males over 21 was 3,904 and females, 4,130. The number of males under 21 in this section was 2,602 and females 2,459.

ROAD REPORTS

The weather was generally fine throughout the province on Sunday, and the probabilities are continued fair and warmer south of Edmonton. There was a general rain in the northern part of the province Monday morning, and it is expected it will reach Edmonton towards evening.

The road between Rossington and Freedom on highway No. 18 is still impassable, but it was reported that the Barrhead area was reached last week by crossing the river at Manola. However, last Saturday's rain may have put the Manola road in bad condition.

The ferry is in operation at Sangudo for light traffic only. There is a ban on all roads for trucks and bus traffic lying north of the Saskatchewan river and east of Range 18, west of the 4th Meridian. The ban is on trucks and buses between Wildwood and Edson for heavy traffic.

High Strategic Value Metals Being Sought in Northland

Copper, tin, tantalum and many other metals of high strategic value in wartime are being sought in the Yellowknife, Contact Lake and Great Bear Lake areas of the Northwest Territories, and the movement of mining company representatives and individual prospectors through Edmonton from all parts of Canada and the United States continues in increasing volume.

American Metals Ltd., one of the largest mining organizations on the continent, with head offices in New York City, is keenly interested in the northern fields, it was learned here Monday.

Companies are sending in diamond drilling outfits to test the properties for depth in order to be ready for the time when actual production can be started.

Shortage of skilled workers, now required in war industries elsewhere, is the chief drawback to immediate development of the field, according to L. E. Drummond, secretary manager of the Alberta and Northwest Chamber of Mines.

With transportation facilities greatly improved since the war as the result of northern projects the Yellowknife and other mining fields are expected to produce many metals on a greatly increased scale after the war.

It is expected that many concentrate plants will be shipped north as soon as machinery is made available by the government.

Some of the precious strategic metal concentrates, such as tantalum, are being flown by plane from such distant places as Nigeria, West Africa to the U.S.A.

It is pointed out by local mining men that these concentrates could be flown from Canada's northland at much less cost.

2 School Teachers To Study in East

Two school teachers from the Smoky Lake School division, G. Kolotyluk, principal of the Smoky Lake high school, and A. J. Styra, vice-principal of the Radway school, left Edmonton, Saturday night, under the auspices of the school board, to study community co-operative plans at the St. Francis Xavier university, at Antigonish, N.S.

It is felt that something must be done to attract the young people to the rural communities, as too many are flocking to the cities. The youth of a country are its life blood and because of the agricultural possibilities of this province something must be done to counteract the trend to leave rural areas. The board is most certainly looking to the post war period when it has undertaken to send these two men to the leading university of Canada of co-operative study.

Co-operative housing, medicine and other community projects will be the main studies.

Through the efforts of the school division and the work of the high school students at Radway, a library is being erected, and one has been built by the same method of co-operation at Smoky Lake. This shows there are great possibilities in this region.

Plan to Probe Situation of Trained Pilots

Agreeing that the enlistment of trained pilots in the Canadian Army would be detrimental to the war effort, advice from Ottawa indicated that an immediate investigation would be made into the situation, according to W. J. Williams, secretary-manager of the Edmonton branch, Canadian Legion.

The Legion recently protested the case of 25 airline pilots formerly employed by C.P. Air Lines, who are subject to army call-up, and due to the suspension of air force recruiting are unable to enlist in that service. The majority of the men are on deferrment from the air force because they were declared in essential occupation.

A reply from Prime Minister Mackenzie King stated that he had brought the matter to the attention of the minister of defence for air and the minister of labor.

IMMEDIATE INVESTIGATION

Victor Quelch, member of parliament for Acadia, wrote Mr. Williams stating that he had interviewed the Hon. Cyrus MacMillan, parliamentary assistant to the minister for air, who promised to make an immediate investigation into the whole matter. He agreed it is detrimental to the war effort to have these men called up for army service and suggested they should be held by Trans-Canada Air Lines.

"However, these men have indicated their desire for active service," Mr. Williams said, "and feel that any airline vacancies should be filled by repatriated pilots."

Liberals Planning Nominate July 21

Nominating convention to choose Liberal candidates to contest the Edmonton multiple constituency in the provincial election on Aug. 8 will be held on July 21, in the Masonic Temple, it was announced Monday by C. H. Grant, K.C., secretary of the Edmonton Provincial Liberal Association.

Primaries, leading up to placing names before the nominating convention will be held in the city on July 17.

Although no definite announcement as to who will be chosen as Liberal standardbearers in Edmonton can be made before the nominating convention, it is generally believed that Hugh John Macdonald, K.C., M.L.A., will seek re-election.

Name of C. H. Grant, K.C., is also heard frequently mentioned as a possible candidate.

Wallet Helps In Identifying Body of Man

The reporting of a found wallet, late Saturday evening, by D. L. G. Johnson, 9735 88 avenue, was said to have given city police the clue to the identity of a man whose body was found on the third floor verandah at the rear of the Bancroft apartments, 10405 106 avenue, about 8:55 a.m. that day. The man, identified by Johnson at Royal Alexandra hospital, was said to be Walter Emsden, 8719 94A street, a former street railway motorman.

Throughout Saturday, following the announcement of Dr. E. A. Braithwaite, chief provincial coroner, that the man had come to his death as the result of a heart attack, police investigators sought to learn his identity through only two initials, "W.E.", which appeared on a signet ring on the man's finger, and again on the inside of his hat-band.

TELEPHONE POLICE

Johnson, who telephoned city police about 8:45 p.m., asked if a man had reported the loss of a wallet containing $173. He then stated that he and the man had been together the previous evening, at which time the latter dropped his wallet. To ensure safekeeping, he said, he took possession of it.

They parted about 1 a.m., he continued, but on Saturday morning he went to the home of Walter Emsden, but found no one there. He then got in touch with the Street Railway company and made inquiries.

Accompanied by police, Johnson went to view the body, which he identified as being that of his companion of the previous evening.

Mother and a sister of the deceased were said to reside at 8719 94A street.

The body was taken to the Foster and McGarvey funeral home.

THE QUESTION

What do you think of the suggestion that a swimming pool be included in the city's plans for a park area in the vicinity of the Macdonald hotel?

THE ANSWERS

DUNCAN McDONALD, student: I think it would be a swell idea and I imagine a lot of people would make use of it. It would be quite an attraction for onlookers too 'cause people always seem to like to watch swimming and diving.

MARION ROGERS, clerk: That would really be all right. Just imagine, you could whip over and have a swim and a sun bath during your lunch hour instead of putting in time just walking around the streets.

GEORGE BROWN, salesman: I never thought of it before but it would really be a good idea. They ought to convert the basement of the Blowey-Henry building into one. I was looking at it the other day and now that I think of it, it wouldn't take an awful lot of work to make a really good pool out of it.

Take Plebiscite At Jasper Place

West Jasper Place residents decided by plebiscite Saturday to obtain the community's power from the Calgary Power Company instead of from the Edmonton plant. The vote was 178 to 58.

The power company's offer is 1½ cents a kilowatt hour over and above the $2 minimum for 20 kilowatt hours, considerably cheaper than the city's offer of a straight charge of six cents a kilowatt hour.

The plebiscite followed unsuccessful negotiations with the city to obtain an adjustment in proposed rates.

Credit Unions Work Towards Lasting Peace

The working people of Canada and the United States have a common responsibility—the winning of the war and after victory the winning of the peace—Roy F. Bergengren, Madison, Wisconsin, managing director of the Credit Union National Association, told members of the Alberta Credit Union League, at a meeting held at the week end in All Saints' Parish Hall.

He said that "we are passing through the most critical hours of our history, and the future happiness of Canada and the United States is in the balance. Winning this war is a joint, a co-operative enterprise, in which both countries are a unit in purpose and determination."

There is no doubt of ultimate victory, he added, but shall we permit this war to end in futility as we did a decade ago? Or shall we continue in the peace the same co-operation which has made us so unbeatable at war?

"If we are to win the peace we must create a new world, worthy of the terrible price we shall pay for victory. The credit union movement can do much toward the work for a lasting peace," he said.

"We know that in the credit union movement we can work together; we know that the peoples of Canada and the United States have the same economic problems; that we have a common responsibility to our sons," Mr. Bergengren stated.

"This time we must see to it that their victory shall not be lost in a futile peace."

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

One-sided diets, which means those containing milks too rich in cream, or those with an extraordinary amount of starchy foods, almost always have unhappy results. Here is one that seems related to large quantities of cereal.

"My 7-months-old baby is bright and cheerful but something must be wrong for recently he broke out with a rash on chest and arms. It did not bother him any.

"His formula consists of 22 ounces of milk, 6 of water, 3 tablespoons of corn sirup and 9 tablespoons of cereal. He has had this formula since the second month. He rarely finishes a bottle (wise child!) and he does not sit up and has no teeth.

"In addition he gets 1 teaspoon of oil, 2 ounces of orange juice, one ounce of soup, one ounce of vegetable, one ounce of fruit. The bowel movements are lumpy and hard and he has one only every other day. Should he have a 10 p.m. feeding? He weighs a little more than 22 pounds. Could you send me a diet sheet, please?"

This request left me flat. No address, no name. I would be happy to send you a diet sheet and also one on formula figuring. But, I must have some place to send it.

The amount of cereal is stupendous and no doubt the child has developed some sensitivity to it. The rate of development is slow, though the gain is large, probably again related to the cereal as the amount of milk is too low.

Here is what your boy needs now: 32 ounces of milk (increase slowly to this point), with water to make 40 ounces and 3 to 4 tablespoons of corn sirup until he begins to sleep all night through, which he should. If he will take more vegetables, fruits and orange juice he may have more. He may have on to two tablespoons of a pre-cooked cereal made for babies, along with the 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. meal or the same amount of mashed, ripe bananas. I think the rash will clear up and the baby become more active under this imporved diet.

Mrs. M. P. There is nothing wrong with your baby's diet. Give him only 3 meals a day and only one daytime nap right after his 11 a.m. to 12 noon meal. I feel sure this will make him more eager to go to sleep.

Our leaflets, "Diet From Two to Nine Months," and "Sweet Milk Formulas," may be had by sending your request for them to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper. Please send with your request a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Young Girls Become Too Self Centered

War Will Mature Young Men, But 'Teen Age Miss Is Bored Unless Young Fellows Please Her Varying Moods

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 22, a lieutenant in the army. At college I made Who's Who among Students in American Universities and Colleges. I won several medals for debating domestic and public problems, but when I take a girl out I don't know what to say to her. I try to make myself interesting by talking about something that I have done or heard or read and she practically yawns in my face.

Another of my drawbacks is that I am a poor dancer. And still another is that I am blond and do not look my age. I look much younger. Can you tell me how I can correct this boyish appearance and make a hit with the girls? C. I. J.

ANSWER: You needn't seek a remedy for aging. Nature and the war will see to that. You will not go home looking like Mamma's little boy. You will show the stress and strain that you have been through and in your eyes will be the look of those who have seen death and suffering and tried to fathom the meaning of them.

If you have failed to interest girls by your conversation, it is probably because you have picked them too young. You were above your audience. If you had been talking to a woman, she would no doubt have hung upon your words and found you a fascinating companion.

A teen-age girl is interested in nothing on God's earth but herself and her own crowd and the things they do. If you had kept telling her over and over and over again how beautiful she was, and asking her why she didn't go to Hollywood and be a starlet; if you had talked about the last dance, or where you got the best hamburgers, you would have gotten along with her swimmingly.

Later on she will probably be interested in discussing worthwhile subjects, but when she is in the adolescent stage you have to keep the spotlight on her if you want to make a hit with her.

I would certainly advise you to learn how to dance. No man endears himself to a girl by tramping on her feet and ruining her best slippers.

JEALOUSY

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am married and have a family of four children. The trouble is my wife is insanely jealous and is getting worse every day. She has no earthly cause, for I have been the most domestic of men, devoted to my home and children. My wife's incessant nagging and false accusations are making me a nervous wreck and injuring my business ability.

What should I do? Divorce her, or just leave all and never come back? She won't let me drive my car without her going along. I can't speak to a woman just casually without her making a scene.

HORACE.

ANSWER: I have always believed that jealousy should be treated as the mental disease it is, and that it could be cured by committing the jealous husband or wife to a lunatic asylum, which is where they belong.

We have asylums in which we incarcerate the criminally insane who have committed murder. Surely it is just as much a crime to slay the happiness of a good husband or wife by false suspicions that are nothing but delusions as it would be to take his or her life. The jealous always try to excuse themselves by claiming that they can't control themselves, but they would do it if they knew that their tantrums and scenes would land them behind bars.

MONEY PROBLEM

Dear Miss Dix: I worked at a job that I hated. Now I have one that interests me and that I love, but I am offered more money to go back to the old job. What shall I do? UNCERTAIN.

ANSWER: Stick to the job you like. That is the way you will make a success. Nobody does good work at a job that bores them.

COLD, DAMPNESS AND RHEUMATISM

It is only in rheumatic fever, acute inflammatory rheumatism, acute infectious arthritis, a severe, painful, pernicious illness occurring most frequently in children and adolescents, that the heart is likely to be damaged. There is no tendency whatever for valvular or other heart trouble to occur as a complication or sequel of the various joint troubles which occur most frequently in mature or elderly adults and commonly masquerade as a chronic rheumatism.

Rheumatic fever, acute infectious arthritis, or as it was formerly known, inflammatory rheumatism, is rather a septicemia (acute blood poisoning) than a joint disease or even a disease of the heart lining, though the affected joints are painful enough for the days or weeks they are involved, and if or when the infection lodges in the lining of the heart the resulting endocarditis has serious though painless possibilities outside of the chance of distortion of one of the valves and consequent valvular leakage.

Either rheumatic fever or any of the various chronic joint disabilities masquerading as "rheumatism" is bad enough without adding to the worries or fears of the patient or the patient's family by mumbling about cold and dampness.

If there is anything I believe I know about health, hygiene and medicine, and heaven knows I don't know much about any of them, it is this: Cold and dampness have nothing whatever to do with any such trouble in child or adult.

It is not that I am fond of being either cold or wet. But so far as health or illness may be concerned I want to assure everybody who may be inclined to worry about it, that aside from the discomfort of cold or dampness or wet, the child or adult exposed to it is no more likely to have any kind of illness than is a child or adult who is not so exposed. Except frostbite, of course.

Parents should think of rheumatic fever, acute infectious arthritis, as septicemia, acute blood-poisoning, a Streptococcus invasion of the blood as a rule, sometimes Pneumococcus. In either case the victim first has a series of attacks of simple sore throat or acute tonsilitis or perhaps quinsy. The Streptococcus of the Pneumococcus, as the case may be, gains a foothold in the tonsil, in the adepoid tissue (third tonsil) or perhaps in a neglected decayed tooth. In this septic focus the germs multiply and grow, and from this beach-head, when conditions are favorable, the germs enter the blood stream and travel to all parts of the body. They have an affinity for endothelial tissue, such as that which lines the joints and lines the heart.

In an early talk we'll consider what one can do to prevent such blood-poisoning.

McKenney On Bridge

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority

Mrs. Ralph E. Duncan of Indianapolis had a field day at the recent Michigan State Tournament at Detroit. She won the women's pair and mixed pair events, and was second in the open teams-of-four. Naturally she won the high cumulative trophy for the tournament. In making an almost clean sweep of a tournament, she is following in the footsteps of our two great women stars, Mrs. A. M. Sopel of New York and Mrs. R. C. Young of Philadelphia. Like them, she is very petite—but just don't make a mistake on a hand, or you will see how quickly she will take advantage of it.

"Al," as Mrs. Duncan is known to her bridge friends, held the West cards in today's hand. After winning the opening lead and cashing another diamond, South made the mistake of leading the queen of clubs. Mrs. Duncan covered with the king. North won and returned a club. Mrs. Duncan won with the ten, cashed the king of spades and led the heart queen. North refused to cover, and the five of hearts was led to dummy's ace. The nine of clubs was cashed and a heart ruffed. The club ten stripped North's hand of everything but trumps. Now Mrs. Duncan led a small spade and North could make only one spade trick.

Civilian World Gets Penicillin

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON, July 10.—(AP)—Penicillin is now to be made available to the civilian world on a restricted basis. Behind that news is the story of a miracle of production rivalling the amazing accomplishments of the drug itself.

By the end of the year it is expected that present production rates (one hundred billion units in May) will again be doubled for this drug—which succeeds where the sulfas fail, and which has proved a life-saver from childbirth to battlefront.

It may be some time before it will be available by prescription in drug stores, but this month, the allocation to depot hospitals will reach a new high of 15,000,000,000 units for civilians—enough to treat at least 15,000 very serious cases. (A unit would about cover the head of a pin.)

At present rate of 100,000,000,000 units a month, at least 100,000 cases can be treated, including civilians, Allied armed forces, and patients in some neutral countries who are to receive small supplies.

Nazi Planes Over Cherbourg Harbor

CHERBOURG, July 10.—(AP)—German planes were over Cherbourg harbor Saturday night and an Allied minesweeper blew up with a terrific blast that shook buildings on shore. It appeared the purpose of the Nazi raid was to lay mines in the harbor, since there were no reports of bombs dropping on the city.

Big Allied Gains During Week-End

ALLIED SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, July 10.—(AP)—This week-end has marked some of the greatest gains of the Normandy invasion, bringing at least 30 little towns and villages inside the advancing Allied battle line, a headquarters war map shows. Ten of these are on the Caen front, 11 around La Haye Du Puits, and nine southeast and southwest of Arentan.

Heavy Fighting

CHUNGKING, July 10.—(AP)—Heavy fighting without much change in positions along the Canton-Hankow railway, was reported by the Chinese high command yesterday, which said Chinese units which broke the siege of Hengyang, 200 miles north of the Japanese-held lower portion of the line, were still locked in battle with Japanese invaders.

Victory Complete

Canucks, Britons Won Caen On Strength and Skill

By ROSS MUNRO

WITH THE CANADIANS ON THE CAEN FRONT, July 10.—(CP)—Climaxing a brilliant victory in the battle for Caen, Canadian infantry and tanks fought their way into the centre of the city Sunday and captured that half of the key river port north of the river Orne while British formations took the other half.

After capturing a series of towns northwest of Caen the Canadians pushed straight for the city as the German defence of this anchor point near the east end of the Normandy battle-line broke in pieces.

The Canadians went into Caen from the west while British troops stormed in from the north, and the two forces joined up in the middle of the city near the northern end of the Rue Saint Jean, Caen's main street.

TUMULTUOUS WELCOME

A central Canada regiment was the first Canadian unit into Caen and the troops received a tumultuous welcome from hundreds of French civilians who came out of cellars and rubble piles to pin roses on the Canucks and cheer them forward as snipers' bullets still whined through the air and machine-guns chattered.

Other troops from central Canada were hard on the heels of the Canadian vanguard and then an eastern Canada regiment broke into the street. Eastern Canada tanks supported the infantry, blowing down houses where some German snipers were lurking. Fighting in the streets however, was not very heavy and the Canadians worked their way to their objectives on the Orne river line at a quick pace.

(This dispatch did not identify any of these Canadian 3rd Division formations.)

The Canadians supported the right flank of the British-Canadian offensive which smashed into Caen. The Canadians took all objectives on schedule.

FALL IS ANNOUNCED

Gen. Montgomery's field headquarters announced yesterday the fall of the city, German anchor point on the eastern end of the Normandy front.

Attacking in an area three and four miles northwest of Caen, and also due south of Carpiequet, a village three miles west of Caen, the Canadians first captured the towns of Buron and Gruchy. Then they jumped forward and took Authie and Franqueville, making contact with the Canadian garrison in Carpiequet.

A German strong-point in Chateau Saint Louet, a quarter-mile west of Authie, was captured and the Canadians moved east to take the hamlets of Cussy and Bitot and the area around the ancient abbey of Ardenne near St. Germain, western suburbs of Caen and on the Caen-Bayeux highway.

Forward elements of the Canadians were approaching Caen itself yesterday morning while British which had taken Herouville and Lebisey on the left flank, northeast of the port, worked right into the centre of Caen.

MUCH MOPPING UP

A considerable amount of mopping up will be necessary before Caen is fully occupied and this was being undertaken yesterday.

About a division and a half of Germans faced the British-Canadian attack. Four hundred prisoners were captured by the Canadians.

The enemy withdrew everything from a strong point at Couvrechief, 1½ miles north of Caen, but there still was some fighting in Galmanche and in a few other positions where the Germans were holding out although completely surrounded.

"The Boche hasn't got a hope in hell of getting out any of the troops left outside Caen now," said a British officer yesterday morning.

COMPLETE SUCCESS

Apart from the mopping up to be done in Caen itself, which will take time, this fight for the city has been a complete success. Overwhelming air and artillery bombardment opened the door for this outstanding advance and the British 2nd Army infantry and tanks stormed forward to shatter the German defence line in one day's fighting.

The Germans fought bitterly, many dying by their guns. The British-Canadian force won on its strength and its skill.

Two Enemy Agents Given Life Terms

ALLIED SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, July 10.—(CP)—Two enemy agents were convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment with hard labor on a charge of treason and espionage by a French military tribunal sitting at Cherbourg on Saturday, it was learned here yesterday. They had been sent through the Allied lines to obtain military information, but were captured by American military police.

Mr. Douglas, 39-year-old Baptist minister and former C.C.F. member of parliament for Weyburn, will have two portfolios—the premiership and minister of health.

Other minister to be sworn in:

O. W. Valleau, minister of social welfare and provincial secretary; C. M. Fines, provincial treasurer; J. W. Corman, K.C., attorney-general; J. H. Brockelbank, municipal affairs; J. L. OPPOSITION LEADER

In the legislature, Premier W. J. Patterson also held the treasurer's portfolio. He was re-elected in Cannington constituency with a majority of six over Mrs. Gladys Strum, C.C.F., and is expected to lead the opposition.

Highways Minister A. T. Procter was the only other Liberal minister re-elected as the party's representation was reduced from 33 in the last assembly. Six ministers were defeated and Resources Minister William F. Kerr did not seek re-election.

The C.C.F. administration will have three more cabinet ministers than the Liberals. New departments are labor, and co-operatives and industrial development.

The one at the left is of crisp brown and white seersucker with self fabric ruching edged in white. Embroidered white daisies bloom on the collar and skirt of the gray butcher linen at the right.

To Study Plans For Community Centre Project

City council Monday night will consider a proposal from a joint committee of the city council and Edmonton Public School board relative to a proposed community centre and composite high school to be erected as a post-war project.

The following recommendations are being made by the committee:

As the grounds will be used for a community centre, the pupils using them during the school day and the adults using them in the evenings and on holidays, we recommend that the city transfer to the Edmonton Public School board its property which is located as follows:

Bounded on the south by 108 avenue, on the west by 104 street, on the north by Kingsway, on the east by 101 street.

SWIMMING POOL

As it is desirable to have a closed swimming pool which would be available for adults at night and on holidays, and which would be convenient for the pupils during school hours, we feel a pool should be included in the plans for the school and that either the city build the pool and charge the school board a proper amount for its use by the pupils, or that the city make a grant to the school board towards the erection of the pool. In this connection we recommend:

(a) That a closed pool be erected on the site.

(b) That the pool be located either within the man part of the school or be connected to the school by a closed passage.

(c) That the small committee (Messrs. Ainlay, Dewar, Burgess, Turner, Sheppard) submit a report indicating how the expense of building and operating the pool should be divided.

As the city plans to erect a large auditorium on the civic centre, we recommend the school auditorium should be only of such size as would meet the requirements of the school board, one with a seating capacity of from 1,000 to 1,200.

ATHLETIC REQUIREMENTS

To meet the physical education and athletic requirements of the school pupils, a gymnasium about the size of the Westgien gymnasium is sufficiently large. This gymnasium will undoubtedly be used in the evenings by adults for games and various activities. If the council feels that a gymnasium with more seating accommodation should be provided, then the small committee, as noted above, should submit a report indicating what assistance should be given the school board by the city council to meet the added expense incurred.

These proposals have been approved by the school board, and a request is made by that body that property between 101 and 107 streets, and between 108 avenue and Kingsway be reserved from the city's sale list.

It is suggested also that a reservation be made north of Kingsway to permit the creation of a botanic garden.

Canada's Relief Supplies Listed

OTTAWA, July 10—(CP)—Woollen garments, farm machinery, canned fish and wheat will be among the items which Canada, as a member of the United Nations' Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, will be expected to furnish the peoples of countries liberated from the enemy, it was announced last night.

The announcement, made by Roy F. Hendrickson, head of the U.N.R.R.A. Bureau of Supplies, in a statement made public simultaneously in Ottawa and Washington, said arrangements were being made with the Canadian government for the production of about $6,000,000 worth of woollen utilitarian garments to be distributed among liberated peiples.

Plans have been completed to produce approximately 25,000 tons of farm machinery for use in the liberated areas, and orders have been placed for some 14,400,000 pounds of Canadian canned fish, including canned cod, haddock, mackerel and Mackerel fillets.

More Japanese Seek Authority To Enter City

The contentious question of admission of Japanese to Edmonton will be before city council again on Monday night when two applications will be considered by the aldermen.

One application is from a district resident seeking permission to attend a trade school here. The other is seeking the admission of the family of a Japanese who has been working in the city for several years.

TO EXTEND CLINIC

There is little else of a contentious nature on the agenda to come before council. The commissioners report that space will likely be provided for extension of the health department clinic by removal of the museum of arts to the library building.

A resport is also being filed on the army tents and hutments established as temporary housing accommodation. It is pointed out that only four of the 20 tents sent from Calgary are in use.

The commissioners report that $103.54 was spent for material and labor for flooring one of these tents, the floors for the others being supplied by M.D. 13 There was also a charge of $140.46 for freight and handling, and $40 for insurance charges, making a total of $284.

In addition it is probable that return freight charges will have to be paid by the city. It is estimated this will cost $200.

The commissioners state the tents are not expected to be occupied for more than a few months as later on they will be unsuitable for habitation. Under these conditions, to recoup the city for expenditures made, a tentative rental of $15 was set, and application has been made to the rental control for a ruling on the amount of rent to be charged.

ANNUAL HOLIDAY

Council will be asked also to declare Monday, August 7, as the annual civic holiday.

A resolution covering the sale of land in the outer taxation zone will come before the aldermen also. This deals with the sub-dividing of land in that zone, condition of sale, and building restrictions in the area.

A. H. Templeton Made Chairman Building Group

A. H. Templeton was appointed chairman of the building committee at a meeting of the South Side post of the Canadian Legion, Edmonton branch, Sunday afternoon. He will look into the problem of finding suitable quarters for the club and report on the advisability of renting or building. Two veterans of the present war were elected to the executive of the post. They are T. O'Dwyer and J. Downie. The meeting was attended by approximately 60 members.

Gets D.F.C. Bar

OTTAWA, July 10—(CP)—Award of a bar to the Distinguished Flying Cross of PO. E. W. Boal, Weyburn, Sask., was announced last night by air force headquarters. Boal won his award as a very efficient flyer who has assisted in the destruction of nine enemy aircraft since being awarded the D.F.C.

Canadian Corps Association Holds Church Parade Sunday

It is the quality, not the quantity, of the life we live that counts the Rt.-Rev. W. F. Barfoot, Bishop of Edmonton and Canadian Corps Association padre said in his address at the annual church parade of the Canadian Corps Association Sunday afternoon, and added that he hoped the thought would be some consolation to people who had lost loved ones in the present conflict.

"We must keep step with the people of Britain who have risen to such heights of unselfishness and generosity", he said. "Cannot virtues come of peace and security or are they to be only the product of tragedy and battle?"

STEP TOWARDS END

"The invasion of Europe marks a step towards the end of this conflict and we should be thankful for the patience as well as the gallantry of our soldiers, sailors and airmen who volunteered to fight for the cause of freedom. They are continuing the battle with a courage and devotion unequalled by men in any land, any time," he said.

Almost 200 members of the Corps, veterans of the last war, took part in the colorful parade, marching behind their colors and wearing their regimental berets and arm bands the "old sweats" drew comments of praise from crowds of onlookers.

The bands of the 2nd (R) Battalion of The Loyal Edmonton Regiment, and the Air Cadets played for the march past the cenotaph, returning down Jasper avenue to All Saints' Cathedral where the service was held.

After the service the parade moved north to Jasper avenue then west to 106 street, south to 100 avenue, returning to the Masonic Temple, where it was disbanded.

OBSERVE SILENCE

The color party, standing before the altar of the church, dipped the flags while the Last Post and Reveille sounded through the church and the congregation stood in two minutes' silence in remembrance of those who died for their country.

The lesson was read by S. C. S. Kerr, K.C., president of the association, and the Rev. W. W. Buxton conducted the service.

Distinguished guests who accepted invitations to be present at the service included His Honor Lt.-Gov. J. C. Bowen and Mrs. Bowen, Premier Ernest Manning and Mrs. Manning Mayor John W. Fry and Mrs. Fry, Hon. J. A. MacKinnon and Mrs. MacKinnon, Maj.-Gen. W. W. Foster, C.M.G., D.S.O., V.D., Air Vice-Marshal T. A. Lawrence, C.B., and Mrs. Lawrence, Brig.-Gen. Dale V. The full choir was in attendance, directed by organist, Vernon Barford.

Friends and families of Corps members joined in the service, which included prayers of intercession for the success of the Allied fight for righteousness.

Overseas Units Receive City's Congratulations

A resolution commending Canadian troops on recent successes passed by city council recently has been transmitted to Lt.-Gen. Crerar, G.O.C. the 1st Canadian Army overseas, according to a letter from Col. J. L. Ralston, minister of national defence, which will be presented to the city council Monday night.

Text of the letter follows:

His Worship J. W. Fry,
Mayor of Edmonton,
Edmonton, Alberta

Dear Mayor Fry.—I have your letter of June 19 embodyin a resolution adopted by the municipal council of Edmonton asking that a message of congratulations be sent to personnel and units of the armed forces recruited in Edmonton and Northern Alberta, serving in various theatres of war, applauding their accomplishments of recent weeks.

Will you please convey to the members of your council my thanks on behalf of the Canadian Army for this encouraging message and assure them of my own conviction that their pride in the Edmonton and district units is thoroughly justified.

I myself had the privilege of seeing the Loyal Edmonton Regiment in Italy. They are a body of men of which any area in Canada might well be proud. They have made a record for themselves which it would be hard to surpass.

I have directed that the resolution be transmitted to Lieutenant-General Crerar, G.O.C.-in-C., 1st Canadian Army overseas. I am sure that General Crerar and all those under his command to whom your resolution refers will value the spirit and the contents of its message.

A copy of your letter is being forwarded to my colleagues, the minister of national defence for naval services and the minister of national defence for air.

Yours very truly,
"J. L. RALSTON."

MRS. ADA SOFIA CARLSON

The funeral of Mrs. Ada Sofia Carlson, widow of the late John Carlson, who was pre-deceased by her husband in 1918, was held in Metiskow, July 6th, 1944. Mrs. Carlson was born in Varmland, Sweden, the 15th day of October, 1870, and died in her home at Metiskow the 4th day of July, 1944, at the age of 73 years, 8 months and 19 days. She leaves to mourn her loss the following sons and daughters: Mrs. O. H. Sellin, Carl A. Carlson, Czar, O. W. Carlson and Mrs. A. M. Christensen, both of Metiskow, Adolf J. Carlson, Consul, Sask., 22 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren. She came to Wetaskiwin from the United States in 1906, where she served as nurse, and in many other capacities for the welfare of the pioneers. In 1916 she came to Metiskow and was active in Sunday school and church work until her recent illness. The funeral service was conducted by Pastor G. Guldbrandsen of Hughenden. Special numbers in song were rendered by Arthur and Evelyne Lindgren, entitled: "Good night here, but Good Morning up there," and Mrs. Gould sang "Meet me there." Beautiful floral tributes were brought by friends and relatives. Another faithful mother has gone to her rest, waiting for the resurrection morning and the re-union of her beloved family. She cannot return to us, but faith in a risen Christ makes it possible for us to meet her in a better land. She has ceased from her labors but her prayers go on still.

Praise again our glorious King.
Where, O death, is now thy sting?
Once He died our souls to save.
Where's thy victory, boasting grave?

Raised from the dead, He goes before.
He opens heaven's eternal door.
To give His saints a blest abode.
Near their Redeemer and their God.

60,000 Jap Dead In Seven Months

WASHINGTON, July 10.—(AP)—In the last seven months, Japanese dead in fighting in Central and Southwest Pacific total about 60,000, Col. Albert L. Warner, director of the war branch of the army's bureau of public relations, estimates. This total, Warner said in an army hour radio broadcast, does not include 40,000 enemy dead in India and Burma nor thousands more in China.

Edmonton Exceeds Calgary in Loan

Figures just released from provincial headquarters of the National War Finance Committee reveal that comparative figures for the cities of Edmonton and Calgary for the Sixth Victory Loan, show a creditable balance in favor of Edmonton.

Following are the figures: Edmonton, objective $5,100,000, results $6,220,000, applications 29,487, and percentage quota, 122. Calgary, objective $5,100,000, results $5,874,750, applications 28,598, percentage quota 115.

The above figures are exclusive of special names and the armed services.

While final group payroll figures are not available at this date, it is indicated that Edmonton subscriptions in this category considerably exceed those of Calgary also.

In the field of savings in smaller denominations, stamps and certificates, however, Calgary and South Alberta leads Edmonton and the north by a wide margin. It is anticipated that with additional effort put behind the sale of these savings media, that the situation will be brought into line.

River Recedes Over Week-End

The 10-foot rise in the level of the North Saskatchewan river recorded up to noon on Saturday had dropped six feet Monday morning and was still receding, according to officials at the Edmonton power plant.

The river rise, which followed recent heavy rains in the district, was at a rate of three inches an hour throughout Friday night and Saturday.

Officials contacted Rocky Mountain House Saturday to receive assurance from that point that the river rise was falling off there.

No anxiety was felt in the city concerning a recurrence of the flood conditions which drove 17 families from their homes during the flood period in June.

Two City Youths Held by Police

Two Edmonton young men were in police custody, Saturday, charged with theft, after they had been followed by city police officers through a departmental store, then on to the street, where they were said to have produced several articles from that and one other city store. A pair of suspenders and a tie were taken from one store, earlier, while two note books were taken from another shop, it was stated.

The two youths, Joe Iwanchuk and Nestor J. Kotylak, appeared before Magistrate Harold L. Hawe, K.C., in city police court Monday morning and pleaded guilty to the charges. North Danger Past

Shattered Jap Army Fighting in Burma

By RELMAN MORIN

NEW DELHI, India, July 10.—(AP)—A shattered Japanese army is fighting desperately in the jungles of northern Burma and just inside the frontier of India to avoid complete annihilation, and the threat of a full-scale attack on the Manipur capital of Imphal appears definitely ended.

There is every reason to believe that the bulk of the divisions which Japan originally hurled into the abortive invasion of India and northern Burma have been cut to pieces as fighting units, with hundreds and thousands already having met the fate of starvation and slow death in the torrid jungles.

An official announcement yesterday said over 40,000 Japanese dead have been buried since the beginning of the year by British, American and Chinese troops in India and Burma.

90,000 CASUALTIES

The minimum estimate of Japanese losses in Manipur and northern Burma is about 90,000 battle casualties.

Two Persons Hurt Street Accidents

Two persons were slightly injured in traffic accidents over the week-end, while two others escaped injury when an iron girder, placed on a truck, went through the windshield of an auto and stopped a few inches from their faces. One of the injured persons, admitted to the General hospital about 6 p.m. Saturday, was found to be suffering from shock.

Those injured were eight-year-old Renny Turcot, 9687 99 street, who suffered from shock and who was examined at hospital, after being struck by an auto said by police to have been operated by John Jones, 11144 87 avenue; and Donald Miller, 15, of 10449 69 street, who was said to have been knocked from his bicycle and bruised by a taxi, about 1:40 p.m. Saturday.

Both A. Music of 12032 62 street and Miss Thorburn of 8816 101 street, escaped injury about 12:40 a.m. Sunday, when the car driven by the former came to a stop behind a truck said by police to have been operated by Robert Lee, Edmonton. Mr. Music stated he stopped the car when he heard a crash. Not until then did he see the end of the girder which had gone through the windshield and a portion of the roof of the car.

According to John Jones, the little boy ran from the rear of a car going in one direction, and directly in the path of his own auto between 97 and 98 avenues on 99 street. The boy was knocked to the pavement. The driver said he picked him up and took him to hospital. The lad said he ran across the street and did not look around for traffic.

Donald Miller, who received a bruised eye, left hip and knee, when knocked down by the taxi at 104 street and 73 avenue, told officers he and his brothers had been cycling at that spot. The taxi backed on to the street and struck his bicycle in so doing.

A woman operator got out of the car, said, "That's too bad," and then drove away, he said. Police are investigating.

Complete Conquest Of Saipan Island

PEARL HARBOR, July 10—(AP)—United States forces "have completed the conquest of Saipan," Pacific Fleet headquarters announced yesterday, adding that organized resistance on the Japanese Island ended Saturday afternoon.

Liquidation of the scattered and disorganized remnants of the defenders who lost more than 10,000 dead is proceeding rapidly, a communique said.

An estimated 1,500 of the total died in one characteristically last desperate counter-attack on Thursday.

The strategic potentialities of Saipan are perhaps the greatest of any so far attained by the United States in the Pacific.

Equipped with airfields which now will need only repair and enlarging, the island stands 1,500 miles from Tokyo, an easy stride for the new and powerful fleet of super-fortress bombers.

Moreover, it has harbor facilities capable of supplying fighting ships. Of immediate and particular value will be Saipan's use of serving, fueling and rearming Allied submarines for still deeper penetration and longer patrol of waters at the very mouths of Japan's home ports.

Mayor Seeks More Huts For Housing

Edmonton's critical housing shortage may obtain some further relief in the near future if negotiations now being carried on between civic, Dominion and United States officials are successfully completed, Mayor John W. Fry stated Monday.

He said that the city is endeavoring to obtain some of the huts located at Camp 550 in the Calder district for conversion into suites. He said that, if the city is successful in its quest for these structures, they will be remodelled as soon as possible. Mayor Fry would not state how many of these huts were being purchased.

The negotiations are being carried on between the city commissioners, Maj.-Gen. W. W. Foster, C.M.G., D.S.O., V.D., special commissioner for north west projects, and United States army authorities here.

Liner Taken Over For Hospital Ship

OTTAWA, July 10 — (CP) — The former Cunard trans-Atlantic passenger liner Letitia has been taken over by the Canadian government and will become a hospital ship, it was announced Saturday by defence headquarters. Canada's other hospital ship is the former Canadian National West Indies cruise liner Lady Nelson. The Letitia is a ship of 13,465 tons.

While operating a taxi between 114 and 115 avenues on 97 street about 4:45 a.m., the accused drove into a parked auto, doing extensive damage to the taxi and considerable damage to the parked car, the court was told. After the impact, the parked vehicle was pushed ahead more than 20 feet.

Rye Prices Surge Up at Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, July 10 — (CP) — Rye futures prices surged upward after a hesitant opening today on the Winnipeg grain exchange and advanced more than two cents a bushel with December and May posting seasonal highs.

At the close values were ⅞ to 1½ cents bushel higher with July at $1.10⅞.

Advances at Chicago and shipper support here were the main factors in the upward trend. Local traders also offered good support, while commission house selling was indicated.

Wheat sales to the United Kingdom were placed at 800,000 bushels of Nos. 1 and 2 Northern.

Firm Undertone To Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, July 10—The grain market had a firm undertone today with rye futures showing independent strength.

Commission house buying and short covering by the local trade absorbed comparatively light hedge offerings in the wheat pit and prices were about steady near the close. Traders said the decrease in hedging sales apparently was an indication that producers are withholding new wheat from the market pending clarification of the price picture.

Wheat closed ⅛ lower to ¼ higher. Oats were ⅛ lower to ⅜ higher. Rye was up ⅝-1⅛. Barley was ⅜-¾ higher.

Wheat—July 1.58⅝; Sept. 1.58½-⅝; Dec. 1.60½-1.60; May 1.61½.

Oats—July 77⅛; Sept. 73½-⅝; Dec. 73⅛-¼; May 73⅛.

Rye—July 1.13⅝-¾; Sept. 1.14⅝-¾; Dec. 1.16⅝-¾; May 1.19½.

Barley: July 1.26⅞; Sept. 1.13⅝; Dec. 1.15⅞.

Cash wheat—No. 1 dark hard 1.60¾-1.61½; No. 1 mixed 1.59½-1.60½.

Oats—No. 1 mixed 80.

Barley, malting 1.25-144½ nominal; feed 1.15-1.22½ nominal.
